Schools today must educate in ways which will free, not control; which bring about constructive variability, not contentment; which will aid individuals in making the best choice among the available alternatives. The price of education is high. Will you be prepared to meet the price when that important moment arrives?

Mr. Galbreath

MR. ROBERT GALBREATH, ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

Mr. Galbreath questions two students in regard to their irregular absence from class.

Mr. Sanderson pauses in the midst of one of his many consultations.

MISS MAUDE DUNHAM, District Director of Reading

Diagnosing and evaluating pupil progress, introducing and structuring new programs, aiding teachers, organizing in-service reading programs, writing proposals for federal assistance to support the reading program and evaluating federally supported reading programs are the special services provided by Miss Dunham, the District Director of Reading. Quality instruction in reading is insured and each student receives individual attention thereby developing his full potential.

Miss Dunham

MR. ROBERT KILPATRICK, Business Administrator

Girls in the offices keep busy. Mrs. Lovewell watches as Mrs. Huntington takes a call on the switchboard.

FACULTY AND CURRICULUM
Provide Educational Pathway

Relevant English

Material Selected

MRS. MARY ROSE COPELAND, English Coordinator, English 4 and Advanced Placement, Senior Class Co-Adviser, National Honor Society Co-Adviser, Literary Club Co-Adviser

Research is needed for many projects. These students are working on a topic for English.

Selection of relevant material for inclusion in the English curriculum was made by students and faculty. The study of basic English skills, the development of English language and the early literature of England through the Elizabethan age and Shakespeare gave a comparison of the old and the new. Argumentation and discussion, study of mass media of communication, short talks and panel discussions, creative writing, modern literature and planning for the future were all used as a means of learning and the expression of truth and beauty. Special needs of all students were met.

MR. FRED GOEHLE, English 7, 8 and 9, Eighth Grade Co-Adviser

MRS. ELAINE COPPOLA, English 3 and 4, Senior Class Co-Adviser

MRS. PHYLLIS McWILLIAMS, English 9 and 10, Tenth Grade Co-Adviser, SCOPE Literary Adviser

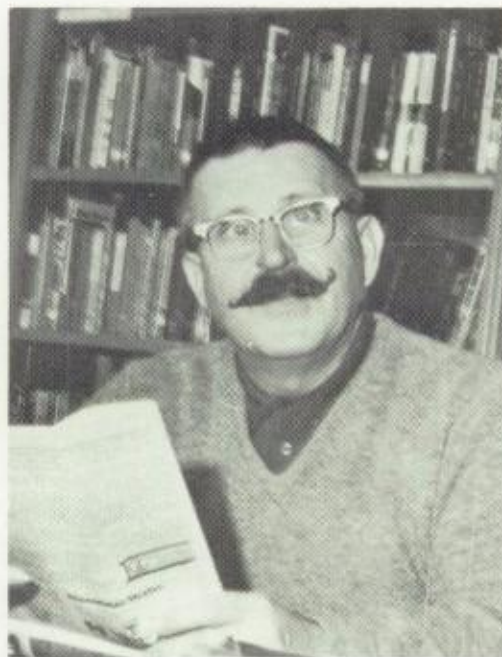

MISS RUTH ANDREWS, English 9 and 10, Eleventh Grade Co-Adviser

MRS. EILEEN BROWN, English 3 and 4, Senior Class Co-Adviser, Journalists Club Adviser

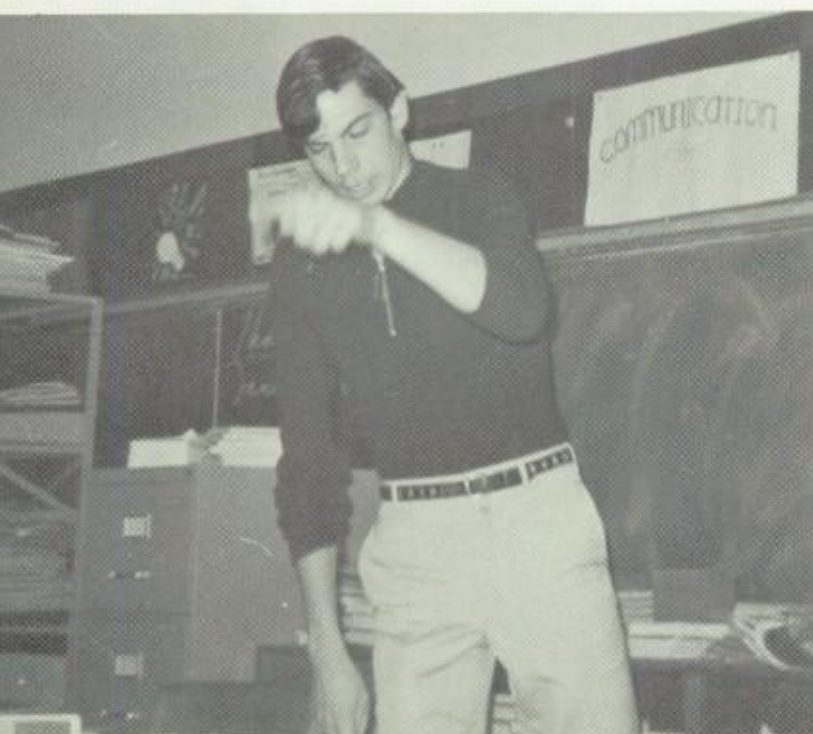

After studying "King Arthur's Round Table," Mr. Donovan's class made a very attractive display in the showcase on second floor.

MR. EDWARD MALONEY, English 7 and 8, Eighth Grade Co-Adviser, Varsity Club Co-Adviser, Junior Varsity Football Coach

MR. WILLIAM DONAVAN, English 7 and 8, Tenth Grade Co-Adviser, Announcers Club Adviser, Seventh and Eighth Grade Football Coach, Seventh and Eighth Grade Track Coach

One requirement of senior English is public speaking. Donald Moore illustrates his point of view.

Modern Movements Gain Priority

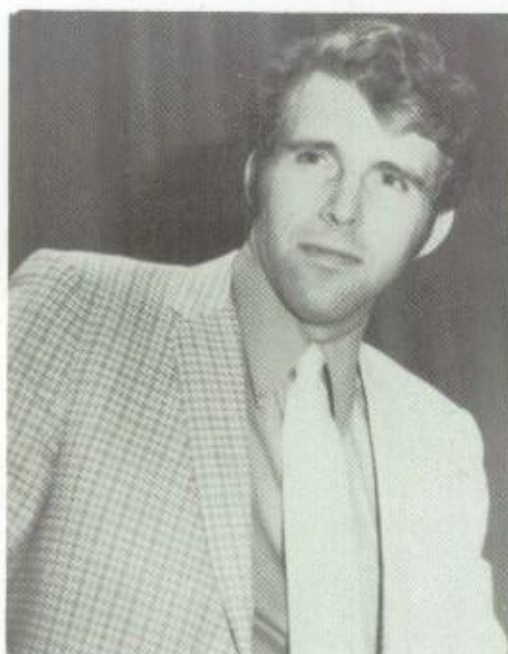

MR. JOSEPH NASAL, Social Studies 10, Economics and Sociology, Social Studies Department Chairman, Tenth Grade Co-Adviser, Rifle Club Co-Adviser

In sociology class, Mr. Nasal illustrates a point in an informal discussion on the psychological effects of war.

MR. GAR LARSON, Social Studies 9, 11 and Government, Senior Class Co-Adviser, National Honor Society Co-Adviser

MR. RANDALL GILBERT, Social Studies 7 and 8, Eighth Grade Co-Adviser

MR. GILBERT BIANCUCCI, Social Studies 10, Tenth Grade Co-Adviser

In Mr. Larson's American History class, a debate took place on the subject of Women's Liberation. Ed Newman assists Mr. Larson in preparing to play the tape back.

MISS PHYLLIS REY, English and Social Studies Core 7, 8 and 9, Ninth Grade Co-Adviser

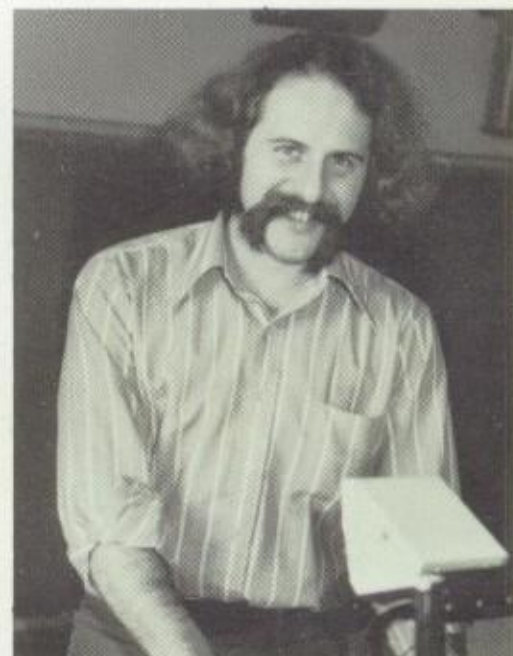

Senior high courses in Sociology and Advanced Economics stress the basic concepts related to these disciplines. Independent thinking and discussion are the rule rather than the exception. New theories are researched and evaluated with Keynes, Novicow, Samuelson, Vacarro, Lombroso and others replacing the heroes of the past. Movements such as those of Women's Lib, the Conservative party, and deficit spending groups gain priority here. History in junior high this year is approached by the use of the inductive method which uses resource material. Independent study with individual help has been incorporated so that the student can work at his own pace with greater achievement.

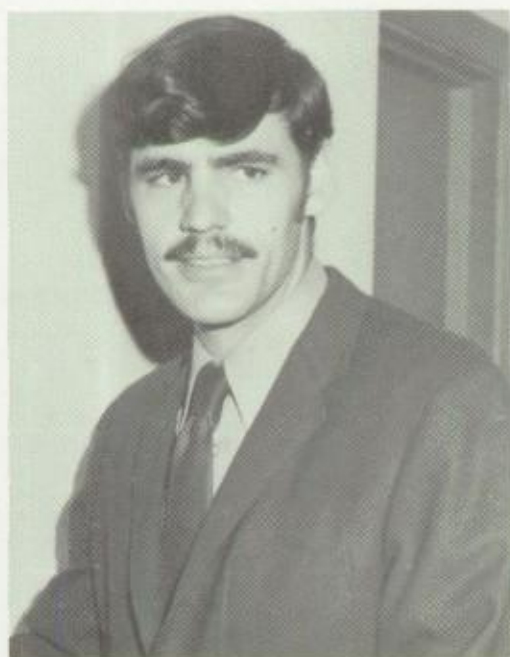

MR. BRUNO PACINI, Social Studies 7, Seventh Grade Co-Adviser, Football Coach, Varsity Club Co-Adviser, Jr. High Basketball Coach, Jr. High Baseball Coach

Jan McCormick and Pat Shelly express their opinions on a current topic in a debate held in history class.

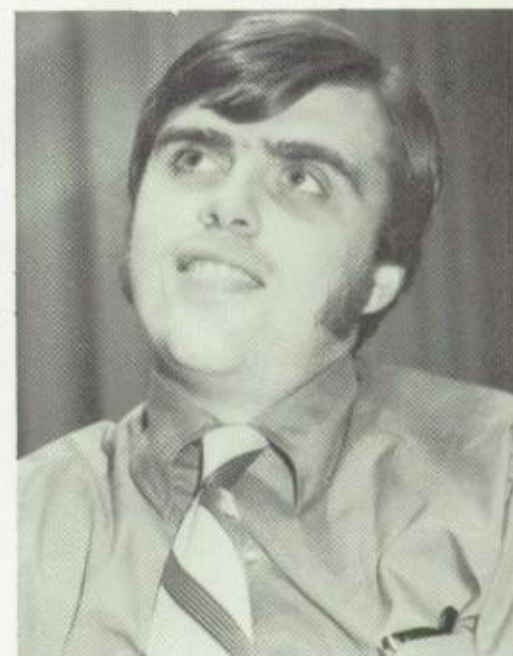

MR. STANLEY VOSS, Social Studies 9, Tenth Grade Co-Adviser, JV Baseball Coach

MR. RICHARD GLASS, Problems of Democracy, Consumer Economics, American History 11, Social Studies 12, Junior Class Co-Adviser, Assistant Wrestling Coach

MR. WILLIAM CHRISTENSEN, Social Studies 8, Ninth Grade Co-Adviser, Senior High Historical Society Co-Adviser

Scientific Method of Problem Solving Works

The Ideas and Investigations in Science Program is being taught in the eighth grade this year for the first time. This stresses self-discovery by the student. Using common and often easily attainable materials, students discover that the scientific method of solving problems really does work. In some general science classes, the Introductory Physical Science Program, which is quite close to the IIS. Program, is being followed. Initial student, parent and teacher reaction is favorable. In senior high, four science courses are offered — Earth Science, Biology, Chemistry and Physics. Each of these courses has two labs a week in which the students experiment with the principles learned in class.

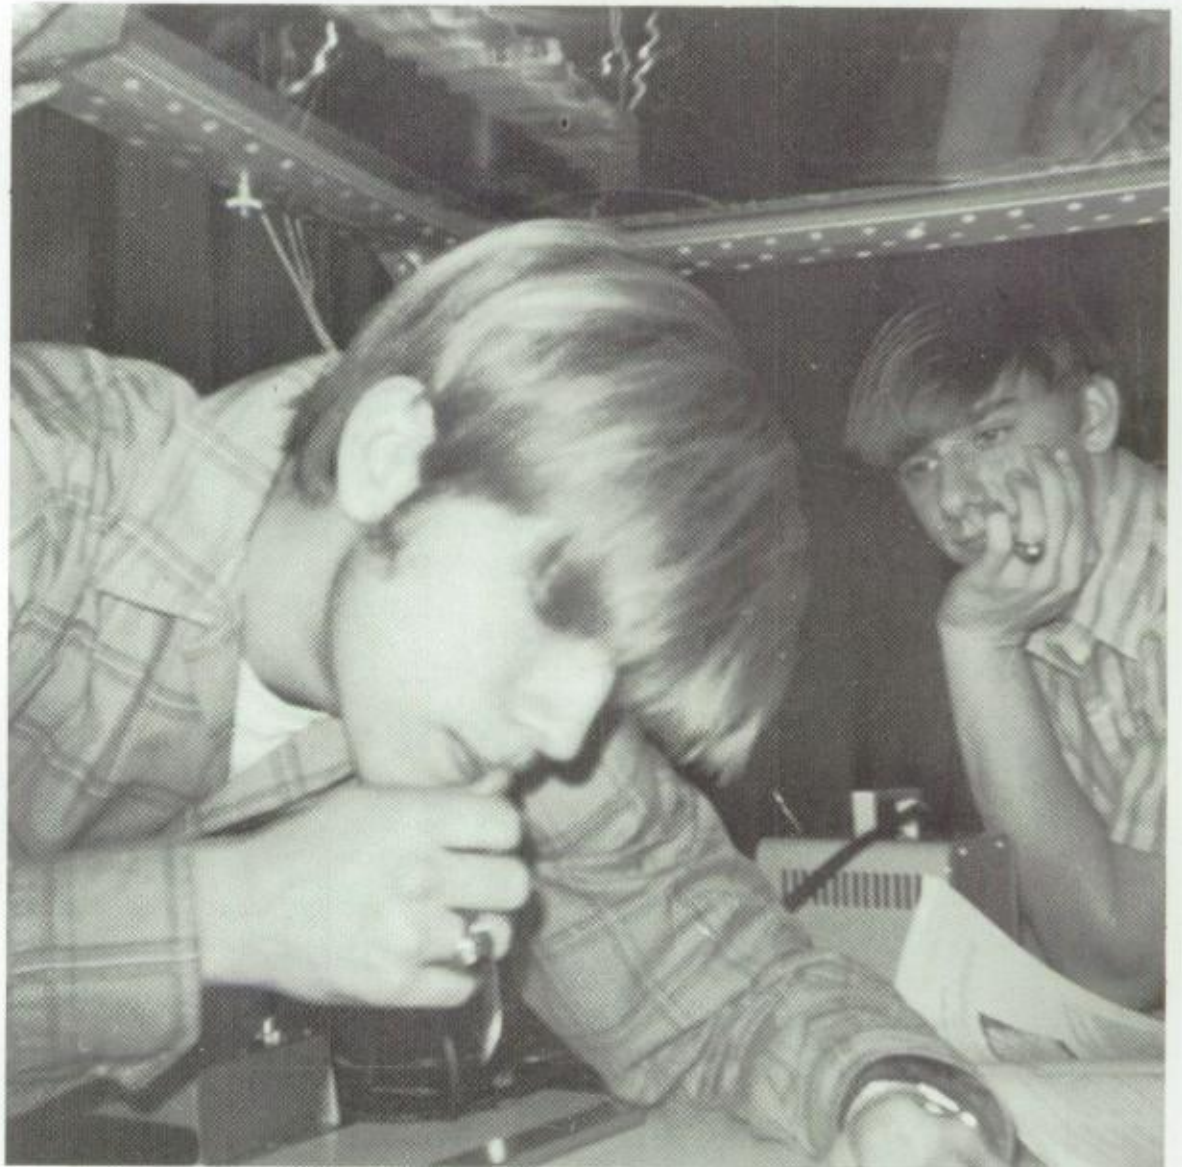

DR. HERBERT KOENIG, Science 7 and 8, Mathematics and Science Department Chairman, Seventh Grade Adviser, Rocket Club Adviser

MR. ROBERT ARNOLD, Chemistry, Human Biology, Senior Class Co-Adviser, Firewarden Co-Adviser

MISS CAROL LENHARDT, Science 7, General Science, Ninth Grade Co-Adviser, Children's Theatre Adviser, Drama Club Adviser

In a study of wave propagation, Tom Uschold measures the waves under the ripple tank in Physics lab while Jim Volkosh looks on.

While John Holahan holds a plastic model of the heart, Jim Holahan shows Mr. Day that he knows where the ventricle is.

MR. NORMAN DAY, Biology, Earth Science, Senior Class Co-Adviser, Firewarden Co-Adviser

MR. WILLIAM TRAVERS, Science 7, General Science, Ninth Grade Co-Adviser

MR. GEORGE McKINNEY, General Science, Physics, Junior Class Co-Adviser

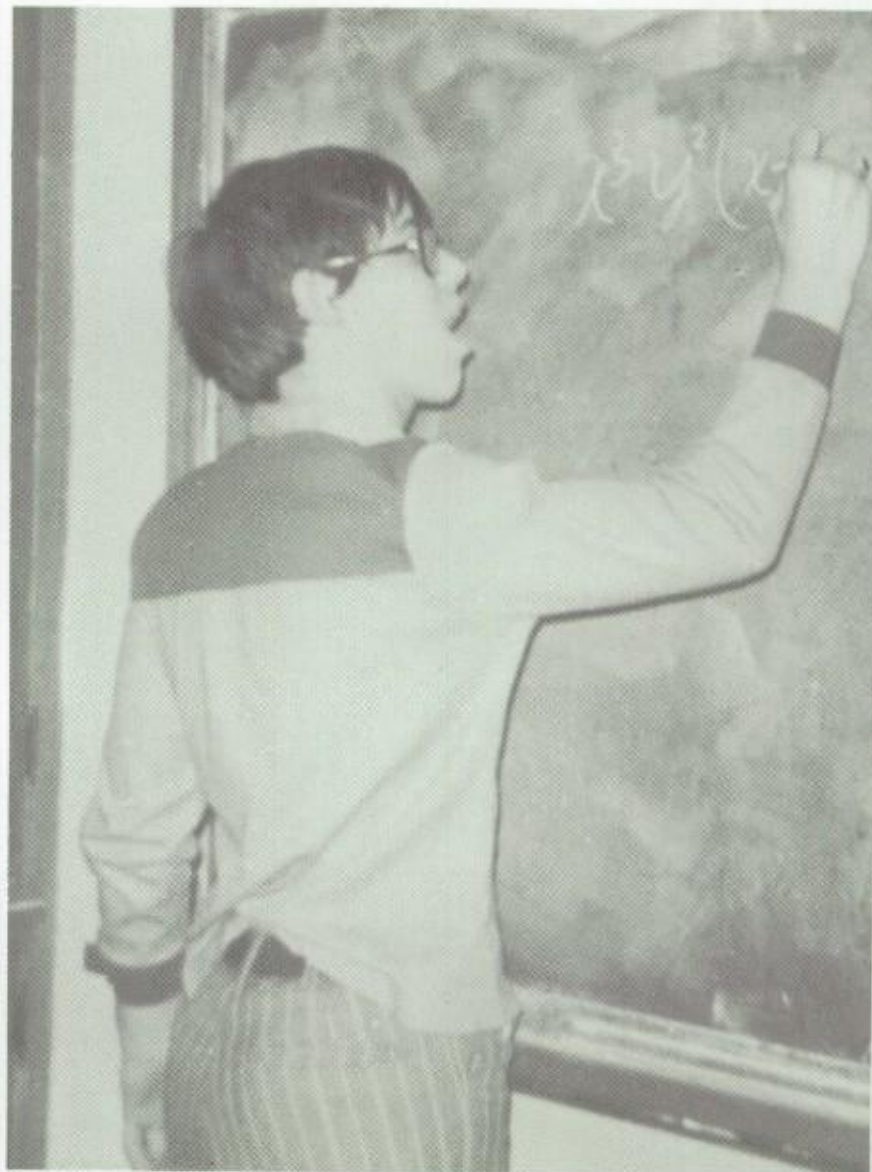

During a science experiment, Mary Kay Allen and Paula Kovach found it necessary to weigh some liquid to determine its density.

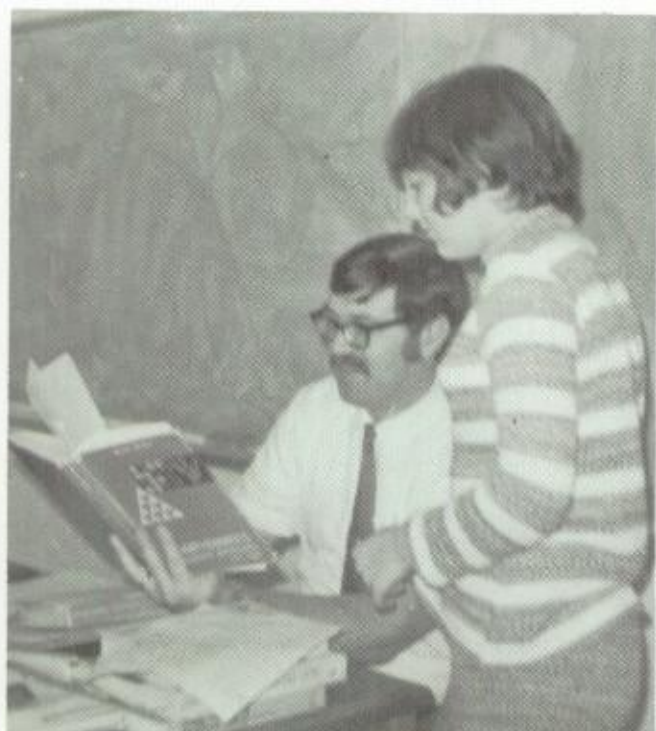

Richard Kempton and Kathy McPherson measure heat in an experiment in Physics Lab.

Mathematics Is Used in All Phases of Life

In today's intricate, advanced world, mathematics is a resource that will benefit all who are studying it. It is used in all phases of life — from the housewife figuring expenses to the scientist in a laboratory. In this age of computers and scientific data, mathematics is mandatory for engineers. In addition to the fundamental courses in junior high, our mathematics department offers nine additional courses in high school. Through these advanced courses, students can prepare to take their places in one of today's many specialized occupations.

Dan Houseman demonstrates how to solve one of the more difficult algebra problems.

Math isn't all problem solving. Mrs. Ewing's class made an interesting bulletin board in the study of percentages. Patricia Huntington points out to Geoffrey Lewis the change from a per cent to a decimal form.

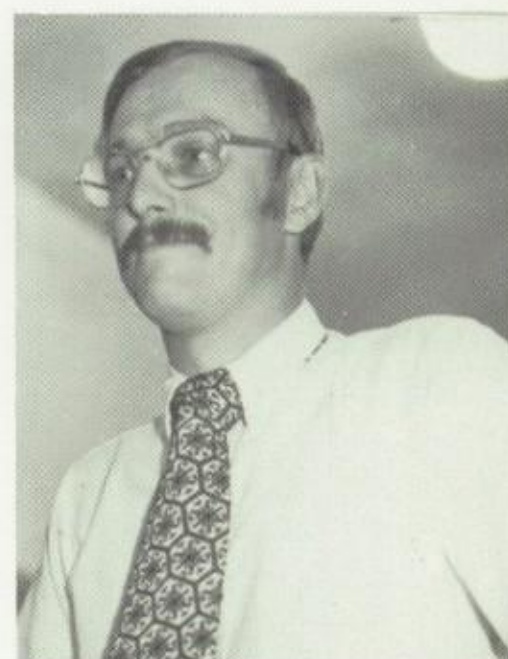

Wouldn't it be nice if we could subtract years from our age like this? Mr. Kain explains a math problem to two of his students.

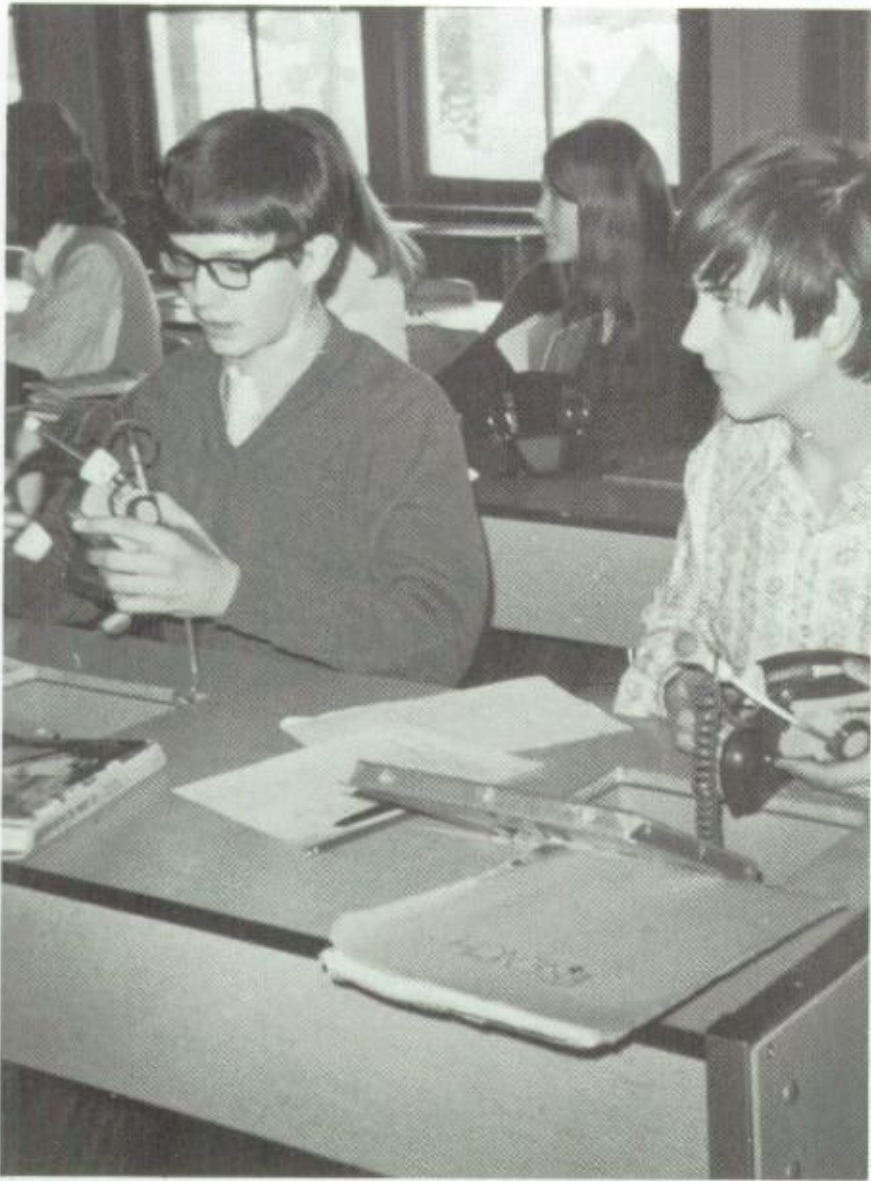

Mr. Finger listens intently to Glenn Rakozynski's question before he helps solve the problem.

The language lab is used for classes and for students who need extra work. This class is about to begin listening.

Culture Is Studied

The study of a foreign language encompasses not only the fundamentals of vocabulary and usage but many aspects of the particular culture as well. Students at RHCS may choose from four such classes – Latin, Spanish, French and German. The latter has been added to our curriculum this year. The audio-visual approach was used, and classroom activities included films, tapes, and records which brought the student into closer contact with the land and the people whose language he was studying.

Mrs. Tonsoni comments about the pretty poncho to first year German students, Ken Kurbs and Karen Anderson. As we can see, languages relate to one another.

MRS. LILLIE HAGOOD, English 8, French 1, 2, 3, and 4, Eleventh Grade Co-Adviser

MRS. DONNA TONSONI, Spanish 1, 2, 3, and 4, German 1, Junior Class Co-Adviser, Spanish Club Adviser

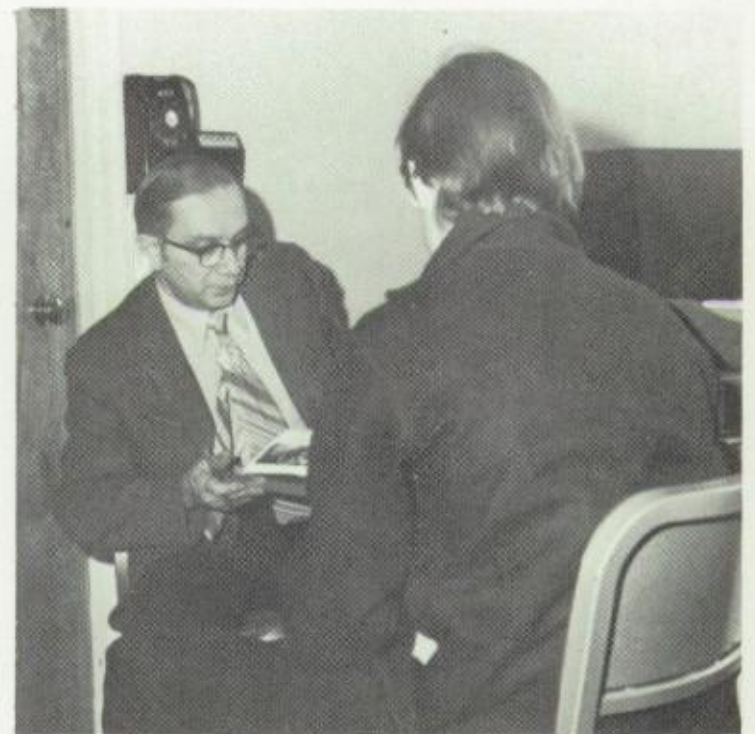

MRS. SANDRA PATTERSON, English 9 and 10, Latin I, II, and Latin Poetry, Seventh Grade Co-Adviser

Guidance Counselors administer many different tests — one is the New York State Scholarship exam for seniors. Some of these students will receive financial aid for college as a result of this.

MRS. LENORA BOWERMAN,
Counselor

Presenting college information and helping students study the strong points of different colleges is another aid given by the counselors. Mr. Uschold works with a student.

Counseling Is Necessary

To prepare for his future after graduation, a student must plan during his high school years. The guidance office is the center of activity for this planning. The counselor can help a student pick the college or occupation best suited for him and help him prepare for it during high school. Discussing the military obligation and the selective service law and exploring vocational choices are some other services made available to students by the counselors. Anyone who has moved into the school district, already graduated or dropped out, may call on these busy people for assistance. The Guidance Department's files include information on High School Equivalency Exams, correspondence courses, adult education classes, business and trade schools, and colleges.

MR. NORMAN USCHOLD,
Counselor; Student Council Adviser

MR. ROBERT BASOM, Counselor

MR. JAMES COOPER, Photography, Advanced Art, Art Appreciation, Art Department Chairman, Eleventh Grade Co-Adviser, Jr. Historical Society Co-Adviser

In the Art Department ideas are expressed in a visual way, and the art of everyday living is stressed. In junior high, a wide variety of subject matter and projects is undertaken. Senior high finds students experimenting in any and all media as they attempt aesthetic expression. They study the history of art and gain art experiences based on understanding, knowledge, appreciation and application of the fundamental arts. Many admire their work which is displayed in the showcases in the hall on the main floor.

Ideas Are Visualized

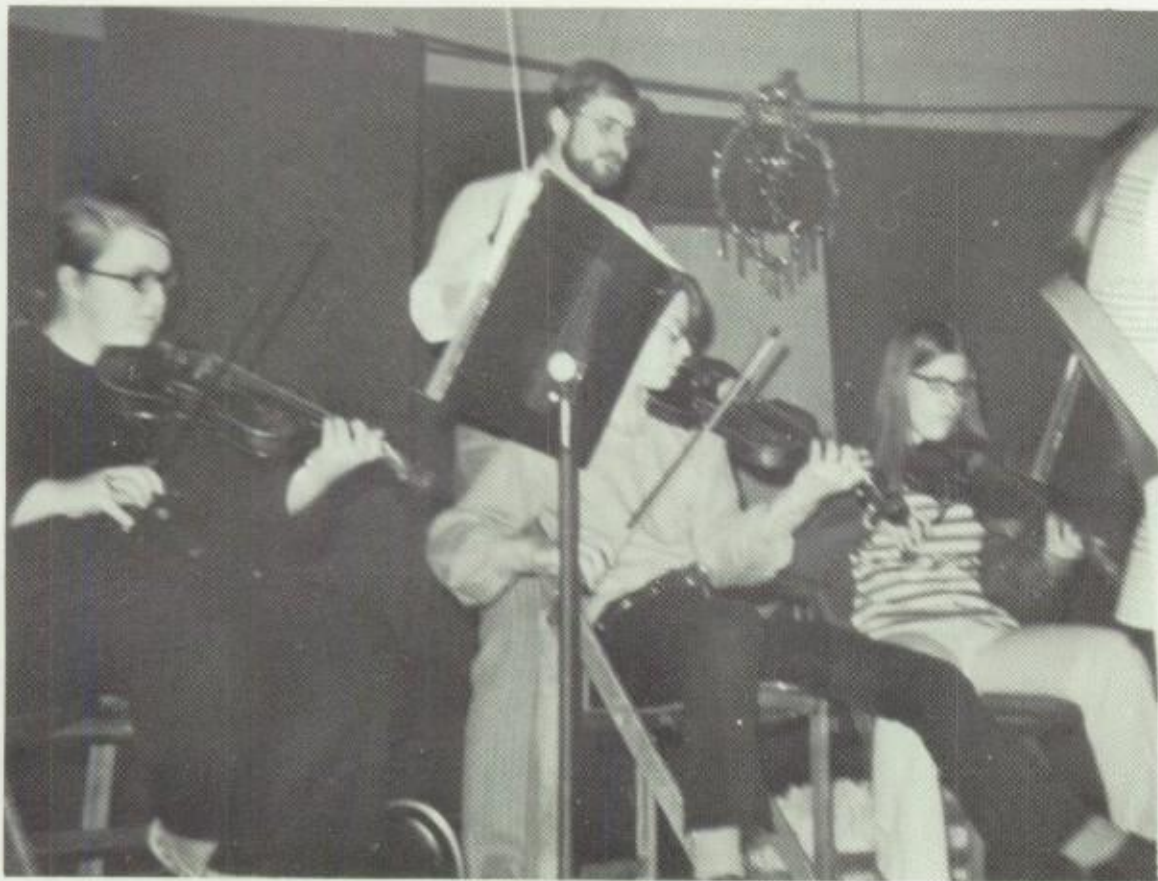

Students from art classes did a beautiful job making and painting scenery for the musical, "Hello Dolly." Mr. Granchelli shows Joyce Rhodes the next step.

MRS. EVELYN SHELDON, Studio In Art, Art 7 and 8, Eighth Grade Co-Adviser

MR. JOSEPH GRANCHELLI, Art 7 and 8, Seventh Grade Co-Adviser, AFS Adviser

Orchestra practices twice a week. Mr. Pregmon supervises and helps at this rehearsal.

Clear Understanding of Today's Music Promoted

MRS. MIRIAM FLATT, Vocal Music 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, Comprehensive Music, Music Department Chairman, Mixed Chorus, Music Council Co-Adviser

Do you want to know more about the Renaissance Period, Classical Period, or even the modern music of today? Just step into Roy-Hart's Music Department. The Music Department promotes a clear understanding of today's music. The courses offered range from seventh and eighth grade music to the option of taking Music Theory and Appreciation. Students have the opportunity to participate in the school musicals and concerts, and even march to the drum beats of the marching band. This field offers numerous opportunities to the musicians of today.

MR. ROBERT CAVERS, Instrumental Music, A Band, B Band, Baton Twirler Adviser, Music Council Co-Adviser, Eighth Grade Co-Adviser

MRS. MARY HELEN KILPATRICK, Vocal Music 7, General Music 7, Jr. High Boys' Chorus

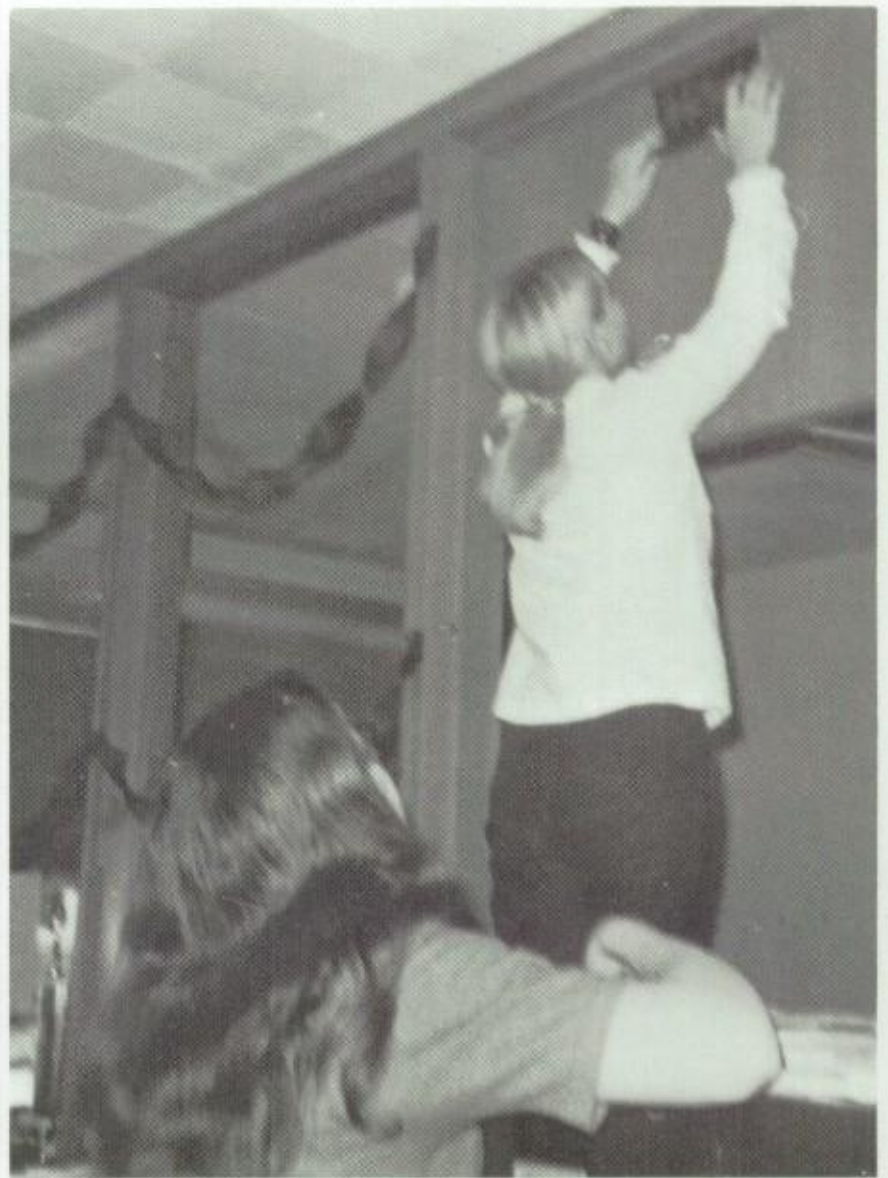

MR. STEPHEN PREGMON, Instrumental Strings, Orchestra, Jr. High String Ensemble, Music Council Co-Adviser

Students Prepared to Take Their Places in Business

Many qualities must be developed before one can enter today's world of business. The purpose of the business department is to prepare students to meet these high standards. In Introduction to Business, basic fundamentals are taught, and after that students may progress to the secretarial, clerical or accounting field. In the secretarial and clerical field, the operation of office machines, proficient typing, and dictation are stressed. Those who study accounting learn bookkeeping practices, effective salesmanship, and the arrangement of window and advertising displays. The habits needed in office occupations are put into practice right in the classroom.

MRS. HELEN McKINNEY, Introduction to Business, Shorthand II, Transcription, Office Practice I, Stenograph, Secretarial Practice and Office Practice II, Business Department Chairman, Press Club Adviser, SCOPE Adviser, National Honor Society, Co-Adviser

Christmas time means decoration time. Kathy Kickbush and Sherry Powers help to decorate the office in Room 140. This is part of their business training.

MR. SALVATORE J. DiCARLO, Business Arithmetic, Bookkeeping II, Business Law, Distribution I and II, Introduction to Business, Bookstore Adviser, Auditor Extra-Curricular Accounts, Junior Class Chief Adviser

MRS. ALMA J. SEABURY, Bookkeeping I, Typewriting I, Shorthand I, Personal Typewriting, Awards Committee

Shorthand II class strives for an increase in dictation rate from sixty to one hundred words a minute. The girls are busily taking dictation to improve their skill.

The Answer to Research Is Found in the Library

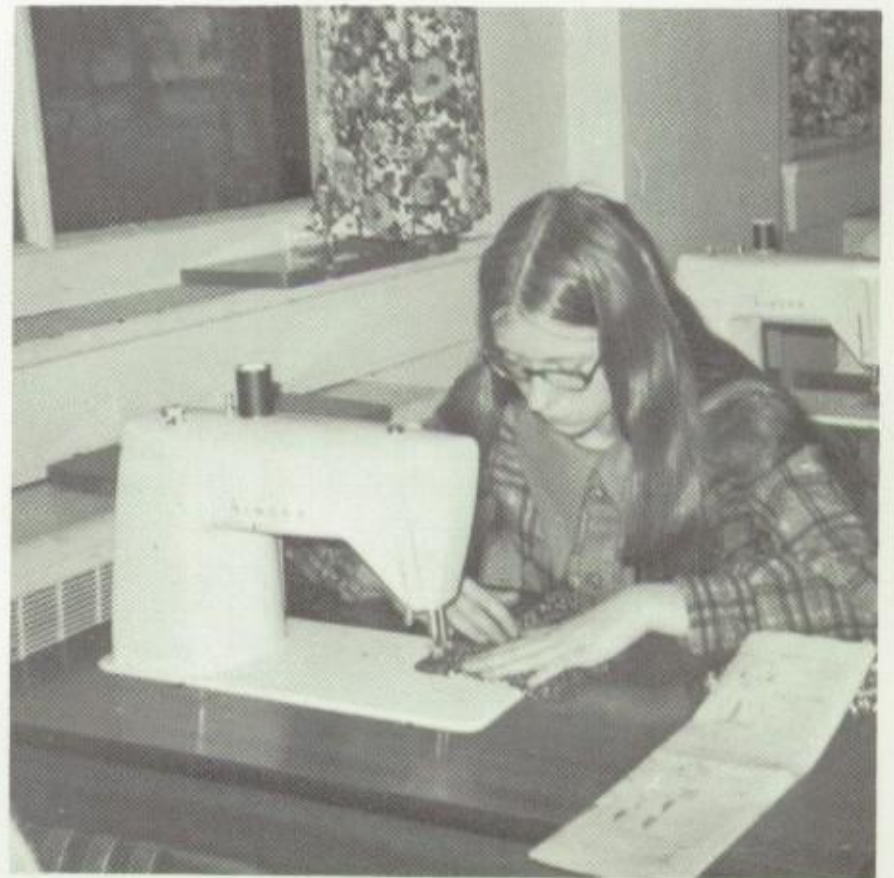

Card files in the library show the name of a book, the author, the location and also give a summary. David Schwab is seeking information.

MRS. SUSAN NACHTRIEB,
Librarian, Library Club Adviser

A world of knowledge is contained inside the library. Students are encouraged to use the library during their study halls for either research or pleasure reading. Junior high people learn to use the encyclopedias, card catalog, periodicals, and reference books to the greatest advantage. They learn this through classes conducted by the librarian right in the library. Those in senior high are usually taken to the library by class to do research. A media center has been set up in conjunction with the Audio-Visual Department. We can be proud of the library facilities provided in our school.

Students Learn to Become Useful

What lovely garments the girls make in home economics! Frances Grant stitches a seam in her dress.

MISS JEAN RAUSCHER, Home Economics 1, 2 and 3, Home Economics Department Chairman, Eighth Grade Co-Adviser

MRS. GAIL BARTH, Home Economics 7 and 8, Eighth Grade Co-Adviser

Getting to know yourself is the aim of each pupil who participates in the Home Economics courses. The subjects offered give students the fundamentals of being a smart dresser, a better buyer and a better family member. The students study the skill required to become an adept dressmaker and the art of cooking both foreign and domestic foods. Because the curriculum offers so many varied subjects, pupils are able to become more useful to themselves, their families and society.

Students Develop Physically

MR. DAVID MARCH, Director of Physical Education and Athletics, Varsity Basketball Coach, Varsity Baseball Coach, Varsity Club Co-Adviser

MR. LAWRENCE LUTZ, Boys' Physical Education, Wrestling Coach, Varsity Club Co-Adviser, Assistant Track Coach

MISS FRANCES GREEN, Girls' Physical Education, Synchronized Swim Club Adviser

One must be physically strong in order to succeed in life. To help students gain strong bodies and minds, the physical education teachers strive to develop qualities such as strength, agility, and endurance. Junior high pupils learn the basic principles of sports such as basketball, tennis, volleyball, softball, and gymnastics. In senior high, the emphasis is in improving skills in these sports. Each one receives swimming instruction once a week unless he has a medical excuse. The basic strokes and survival floating, underwater swimming, and diving are taught. Through these activities, each student is helped to become physically fit and ready to face the world of tomorrow.

Push-ups — How many did you do? This was one of the parts of the physical fitness tests.

MR. JAMES McCORMICK, Boys' Physical Education, Eighth Grade Basketball Coach, Jr. High Track Coach, Varsity Club Co-Adviser

MISS JANICE UHLMAN, Girls' Physical Education, Health 8 and 11, Cheerleader Adviser, Girls' Athletic Association Adviser, Intramural Adviser

On your mark — Paulette Burns is ready to start the speed section of the physical fitness test.

Today's Health Problems Are Studied

RHCS health service program's main purpose is to maintain a high health standard for all. The school nurse teacher assists in annual physical exams, vision and hearing testing. After parents have been notified of defects, assistance is offered to help correct them. She also administers first aid whenever it is necessary. The dental hygienist checks and cleans teeth and notifies parents of dental problems.

MRS. ALICE GOODMAN, School Nurse Teacher, Medical Careers Club Adviser

MRS. GAYLE LARSON, Dental Hygiene Teacher

Each month finds an attractive health bulletin board across from the health office. Mrs. Goodman works on one which solicited food for the Christmas baskets.

"Mrs. Larson, you won't hurt me, will you?" How the teeth did sparkle after Mrs. Larson checked and cleaned them.

MRS. JOAN LLOYD, Health 8 and 11, Ninth Grade Co-Adviser, Health Coordinator for Grades K-6

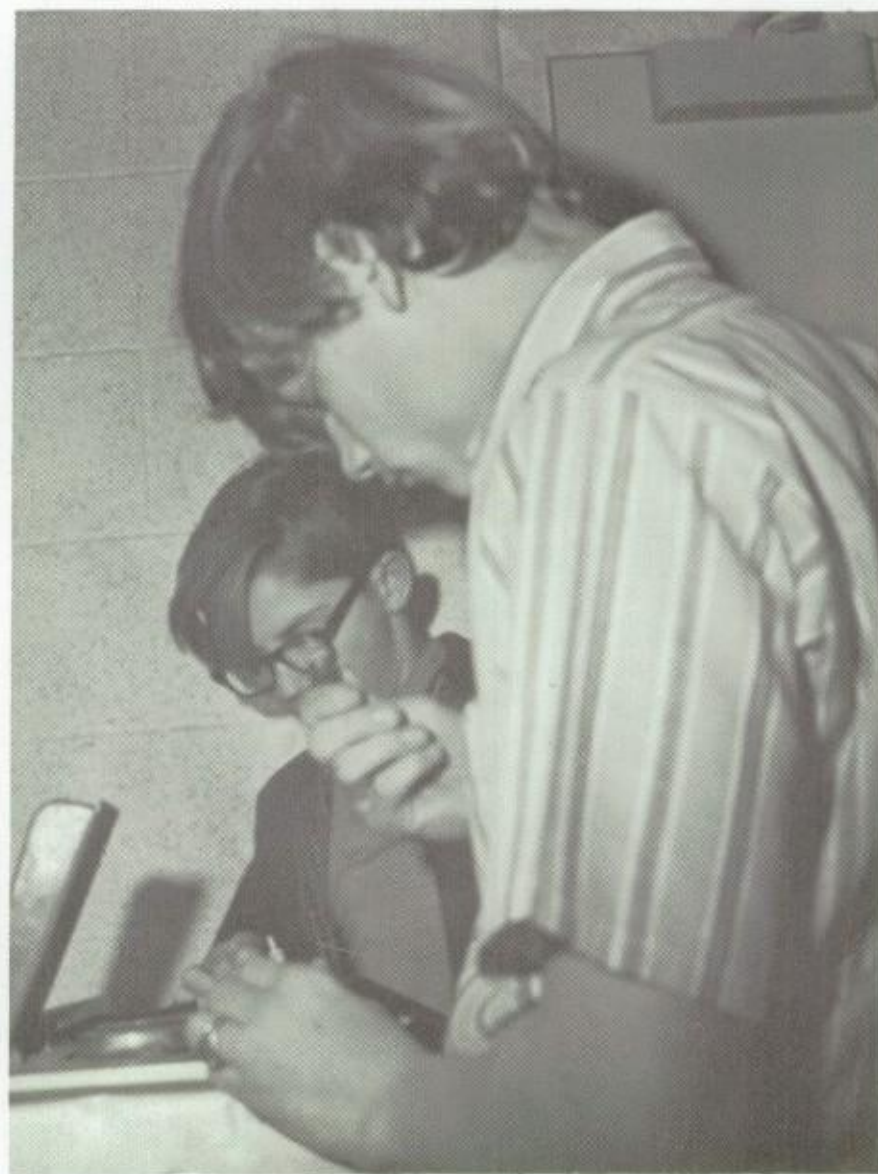

Students in grades 8 and 11 meet twice every week for health education classes. The main purpose of this course is to promote a clear understanding of general health information and current health-related problems such as smoking, drug abuse, and pollution. This valuable course gives the student insight in the areas of emergency treatments and health problems of the future.

Technical Skills Are Developed

Scientific and technological advances have hardly been felt by our progressive Industrial Arts Department. Students are able to develop their technical skills in the mechanical drawing room and three shops. General Electricity, General Metal, and Transportation Shop were offered to the senior high this year. Seventh and eighth grade students received general instruction in the areas of Graphic Arts, Metal and Electricity. These classes supply the information they will need for entrance into the technological world.

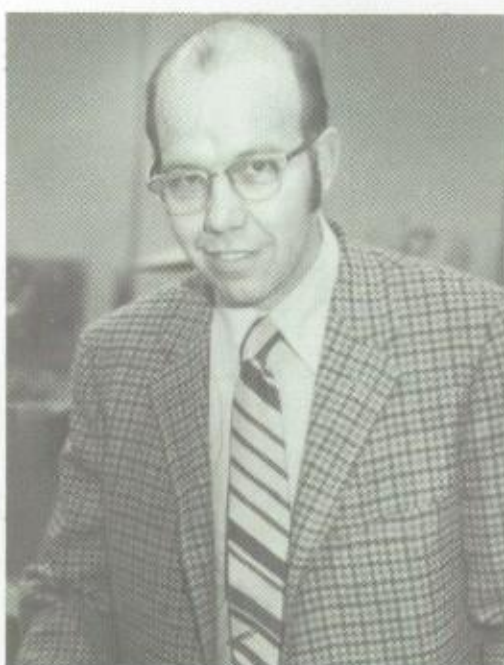

In graphic arts, Dean Taylor and William Wymczak set type into a composing stick from a California Job Case.

Ken Powers and Wayne Dreher clean spark plugs in automotive shop.

MR. ROBERT QUERNS, Transportation Shop, Metal Shop, Shop 7 and 8, Industrial Arts Department Chairman, Rifle Club Co-Adviser

MR. WALTER KAZ, Metal Shop, Electric Shop, Shop 7 and 8, Industrial Arts Club Adviser

MR. CARL SMUGOR, Mechanical Drawing 1, 2, 3, and 4, Eighth Grade Co-Adviser, Jr. Historical Club Co-Adviser

And in this far corner of our school we have America's future support . . . tomorrow's agricultural men. The far end of Roy-Hart's first floor is occupied by the Agriculture Department. Here students are trained to meet the ever increasing demands placed on the farmer of today. Agricultural production and management deal with the farmer's role in an over-populated, mechanized society. In preparation for the future, these students learn electrical, soldering and plumbing techniques for maintenance of farm equipment. To keep the course updated, students use magazines, pamphlets and reports in their course of study.

Members of the agriculture class journeyed to Rochester to participate in the Apple Judging Contest.

MR. HARRY MERRELL, Agriculture Mechanics 1 and 2, Agriculture 1, 2, 3, Transportation Shop, V.I.C.P., Future Farmers of America Adviser

Driver Education includes class work as well as actual driving. Mr. Eigenmann explains a point to Cindy Winner.

Safe Driving Taught

With the increasing number of drivers and cars on the road today, traffic safety is a must. The driver education course emphasizes the personal responsibilities of a safe driver. The ability to control a car, defensive driving, the laws relating to moving vehicles, the simple mechanics of a motor vehicle, and the psychological and physical factors in accidents are studied. Through actual experience on the road under the direction of a qualified instructor, the driver's personal responsibilities are made more meaningful.

MR. MELVIN MacNEAL, Reading

MRS. VIRGINIA MacNEAL,
Reading

To acquire knowledge, reading is a basic essential. Learning to read is a happy, fruitful experience when instruction is humanized, personalized and differentiated as it is in RHCS. The goal of education is to develop individuals who are self-directing and self-actualizing. The individualized reading programs lend themselves to the accomplishment of this goal. In junior high, assistance is available to provide basic reading and to develop study skills. In senior high stress is placed on speed reading and comprehension.

Assistance Given

The purpose of the Resource Room is to help those students who need additional help in some learning situations by using a variety of approaches, such as, individualized instruction and the use of multi-media techniques which are not possible in a regular classroom.

FTA members gain experience by helping younger students. The Resource Center is a busy spot as Mr. Wilson gives students additional help.

MRS. PAMELA NICHOLS, Speech

Speech Impediments Are Corrected

MRS. SHIRLEY MEDOFF, Speech

Speech services are available at all educational levels although the main emphasis is at the elementary level. After a speech evaluation, any student found to have difficulty may receive aid and instruction from the department. He then meets with the therapist once or twice a week. There are three phases to the program: identifying speech problems, correcting them, and eliminating them. An auditory training program has been introduced at the kindergarten level. As a result, speech impediments may be recognized and corrected when the child is young.

ONE MORE STEP UP THE LADDER ACCOMPLISHED

Thirteen years ago this September found us in the kindergarten classrooms of Gasport and Middleport. Now we are seniors! The years have passed quickly, and at this time we find ourselves confronted with many crucial questions concerning our future. Members of the class of 1972 recall many memorable occasions from their elementary school days. There were the exciting walks to visit the post office and fire hall in the early years, and later a field trip to the Niagara Falls Aquarium. In sixth grade, students from Gasport and Middleport met for the first time at orientation day exercises in the huge and baffling high school. Also we will never forget the lady who played the harp for us at our sixth grade assembly. In the first few weeks, seventh grade proved to be a challenge for us, but due to the experiment of changing classes in sixth grade, it did not take too much time to adjust. Although the class of 1972 got off to a late start monetarily, we made up for it readily with our first dance in tenth grade and the junior class candy sale. As juniors we proudly received our class rings and enjoyed the privilege of individual pictures for the first time. Our prom, An English Garden, was held at the Apple Grove, and the elaborate decorations increased the pleasure of all who attended. In the 1971-72 school year we enjoyed our foreign students; Thespina of Jordan, Gloria of Bolivia, and Takeyo of Japan. As the year draws to a close, we have much to look back on, yet even more to look forward to. With the foundations provided to us by Roy-Hart, we can be assured of a worthy background with which to enter the world.

Laura Gibbs

As juniors, girls worked on the 1971 Rose Banner for Moving-Up Day.

Oh, those pesky shots! What's the matter, Pat? You don't look too happy as the County Health nurse gives you yours.

Is it the Keebler Cookie Factory? No, it was just a few of us seventh grade girls in home economics class.

Loren Dill, Dave Winters, Rich Kempton, and George Meindl contented themselves by climbing on the jungle gym in Kindergarten.

John Fisher, Sharon Boyer and Dave Winters examined trucks and cars in third grade as Linda Montgomery watched.

Sixth grade scientists, Mike Szymanski, Sherry Powers and Charlie White watched Mr. Fausett's experiment on erosion.

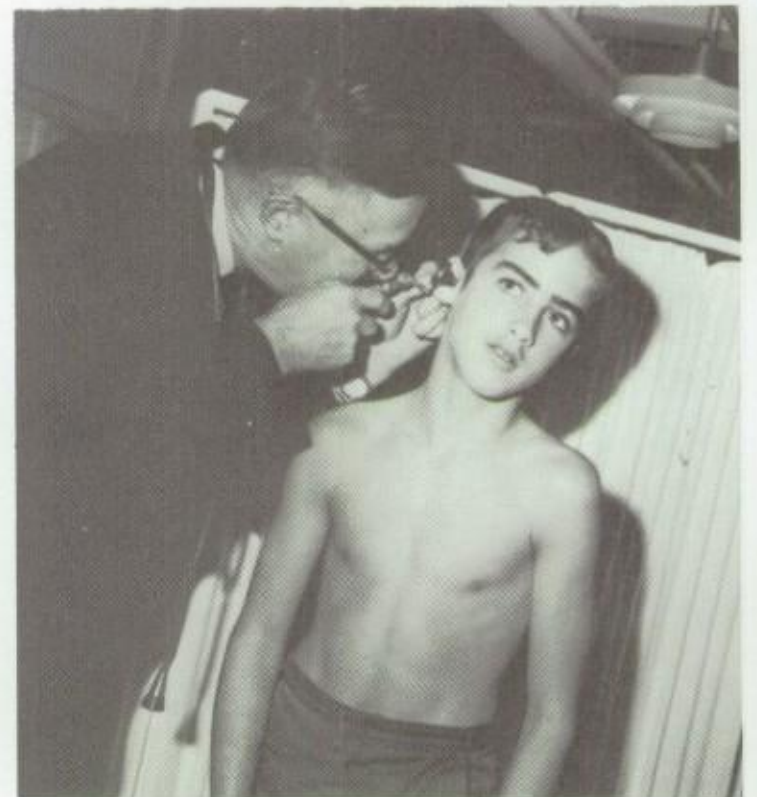

Seniors, Terry Sharp and Barb Orlando, took time out from studies for a little recreation.

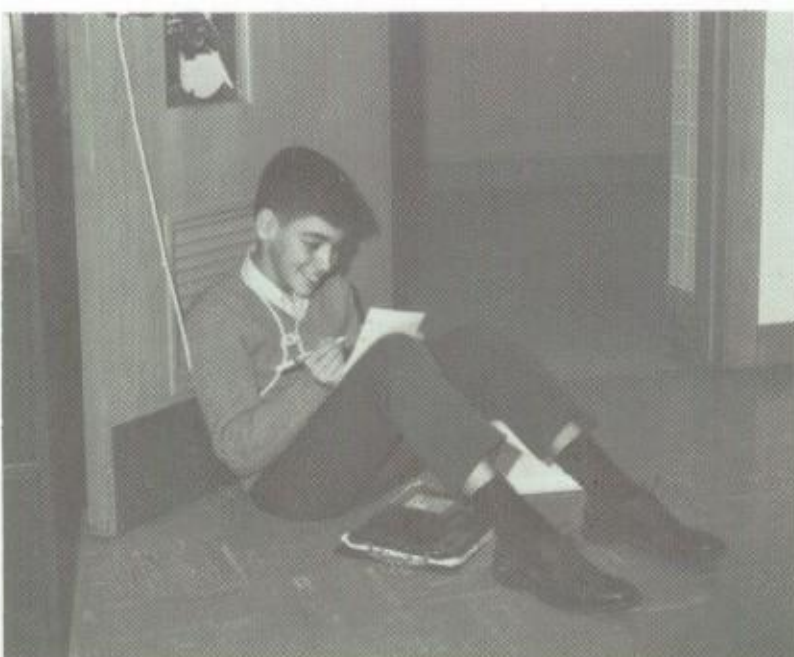

At last, the day had arrived! Marilyn Childs showed her class ring to classmates, Nancy Mahnke and Sandy Todd.

Miss Neuman, one of the kindergarten teachers, helped us 'wee' folks prepare for our lunch.

"Now, let me see here," said Dr. Williams, as he examined Dan Vanderwalker. We certainly were a healthy class.

Steve Cripps really represented a "Slave For A Day" when he was bought at the 1967 Student Council Slave Auction.

Seventh grade girls, Barb Orlando, Kathie McPherson, Sue Rogenmoser, Linda Montgomery and Debbie Eick candidly displayed the 1967 styles.

Three superior spellers of our eighth grade class participated in the spelling contest. Pictured are Debbie Bugenhagen, Mary Mohlar and Linda Wakefield with two officials of the contest.

Future "Nader's Raiders" — maybe. Here a history class celebrated Earth Day, 1971, through a litter campaign along Route 31, at 6:00 a.m.

Is this a Highland soldier attempting to kidnap a colonial farm girl? No, just Kris Mesler and George Wilhelm discussing the party planned for junior Goof Off Day.

One of our harder days in school occurred in October, 1971, when we all worked for six hours on the Regents Scholarship Exam. Have you ever seen us so serious?

Were we ever proud the day Celeste Krog passed on our Junior banner and we received the new name of Seniors!

The highlight of our Junior prom was the crowning of the king and queen. Gary Newton and Pat Burns place the crowns on Colleen Querns and Bill Holahan.

In the elementary grades, we started our independent reading programs early. Here, Linda Fuller and David Stahl, chose their reading lessons for the day.

We give a special thanks to our Junior class advisers and their spouses who gave up an evening to chaperone our Junior Prom, An English Garden.

Couples danced to the music of Mr. Pregmon's orchestra at the Junior Prom. Everyone agreed that this was the best prom yet.

George Meindl and Pam Groff put their hats and coats on as they awaited time to go home after a busy day in first grade.

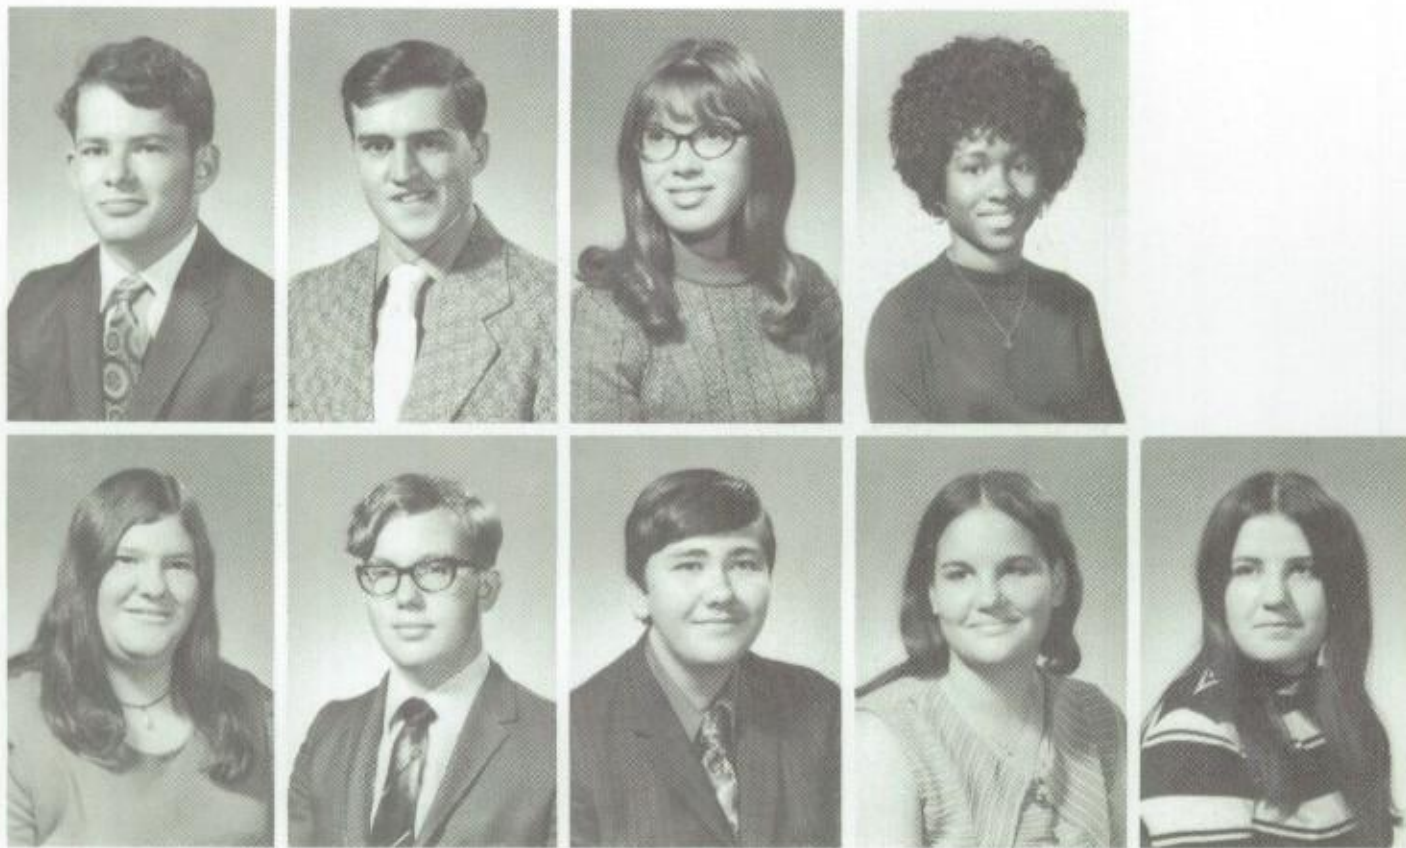

Could these little people be Santa's elves? No, just members of Mrs. White's Kindergarten class awaiting the arrival of Santa Claus.

Pat Gibney, David Kowalski and Nancy Mahnke, students of Mr. Fox's sixth grade, displayed the thistle tree which they helped to make for Christmas.

Happiness Is . . . "Scope '72"

Happiness means a new SCOPE full of past school year memories. In publishing SCOPE '72, Press Club presented the events of the school year. Some were humorous and others serious, but none will ever be forgotten. These memoirs were compiled through much time and effort. Members worked diligently at typing, proofreading, taking pictures, writing, and drawing dummy copies. A stationery sale helped finance a staff member's two weeks' study at a yearbook workshop at Syracuse University. To thank teachers for their assistance in making this book a success, a faculty tea was held.

Together Brings Success

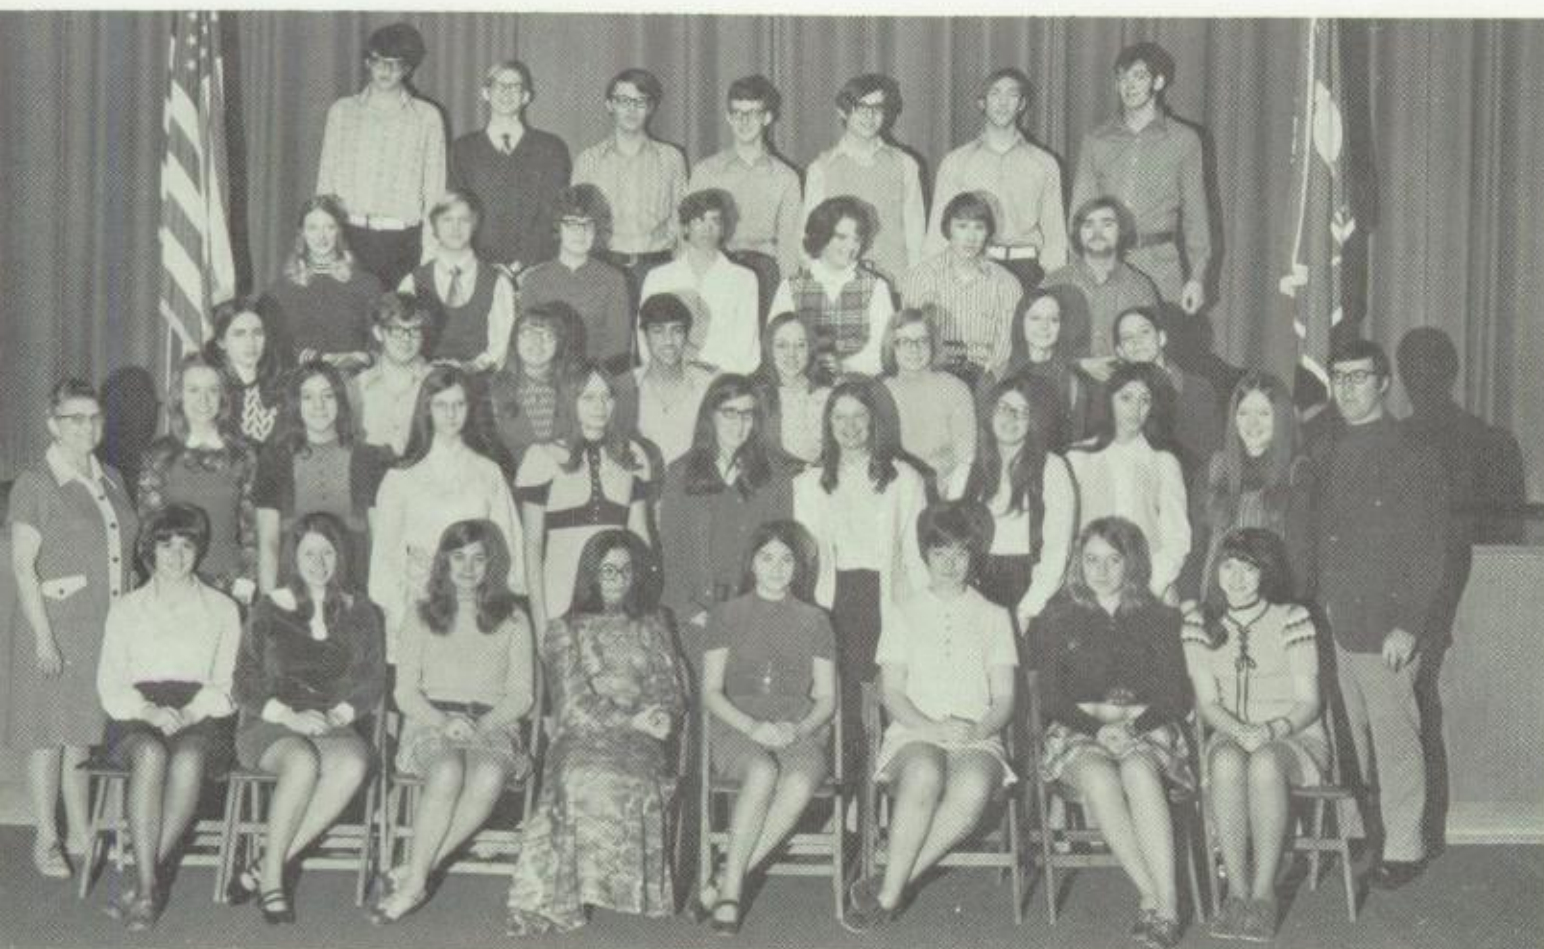

"Communications" — is the 1971-1972 key word that has brought both faculty and students together in committees to help make Royalton-Hartland a better school. At meetings of these dedicated groups, mature discussions have been held and young ideas have been presented. Work on curriculum changes, cafeteria conduct and passing time through the halls were prime objectives of the Student Council. In cooperation with the faculty, members are working toward progress in our school. With everyone working together, Roy-Hart will continue to be a school we can be proud of.

Students Are Honored

The juniors and seniors sat tensely in the auditorium as they awaited the highest honor bestowed upon students at RHCS, induction into the National Honor Society. Qualifications for inclusion in the group are outstanding records in the area of service, character, leadership and scholarship. After the announcement of twenty-six inductees, the club, accompanied by advisers and parents, enjoyed a smorgasbord luncheon at the Sheraton Motor Inn in Lockport. Then a formal induction ceremony was held. The main activity of the group this year was aiding students who needed help in academic work.

Dedicated People Help Others

Dedication is the key to success in any medical career. The students in Medical Careers Club know this to be true, and they participate in many enlightening activities throughout the year. Some of the members join in the volunteer program at the Veterans' Hospital in Buffalo during the summer while others work at the area nursing homes. The club holds an annual food drive which helps collect food for needy families in the area. At the end of the year the Wendy Wollenberg memorial watch is presented to the most deserving senior member going into nursing.

Window Displays Are Outstanding

"Fifty-nine cents, please." Those familiar words were often heard in the cornership, where store managers sold school supplies and other school merchandise. Club members gained experience in such areas as buying, selling, arranging window displays, and inventory control. Each member worked at least one period a day applying his knowledge of business control and helping students make proper selections. Club members also put a lot of time and imagination into the elaborate cornership window displays for which the club is well known.

Girls Create Attractive Show Cases

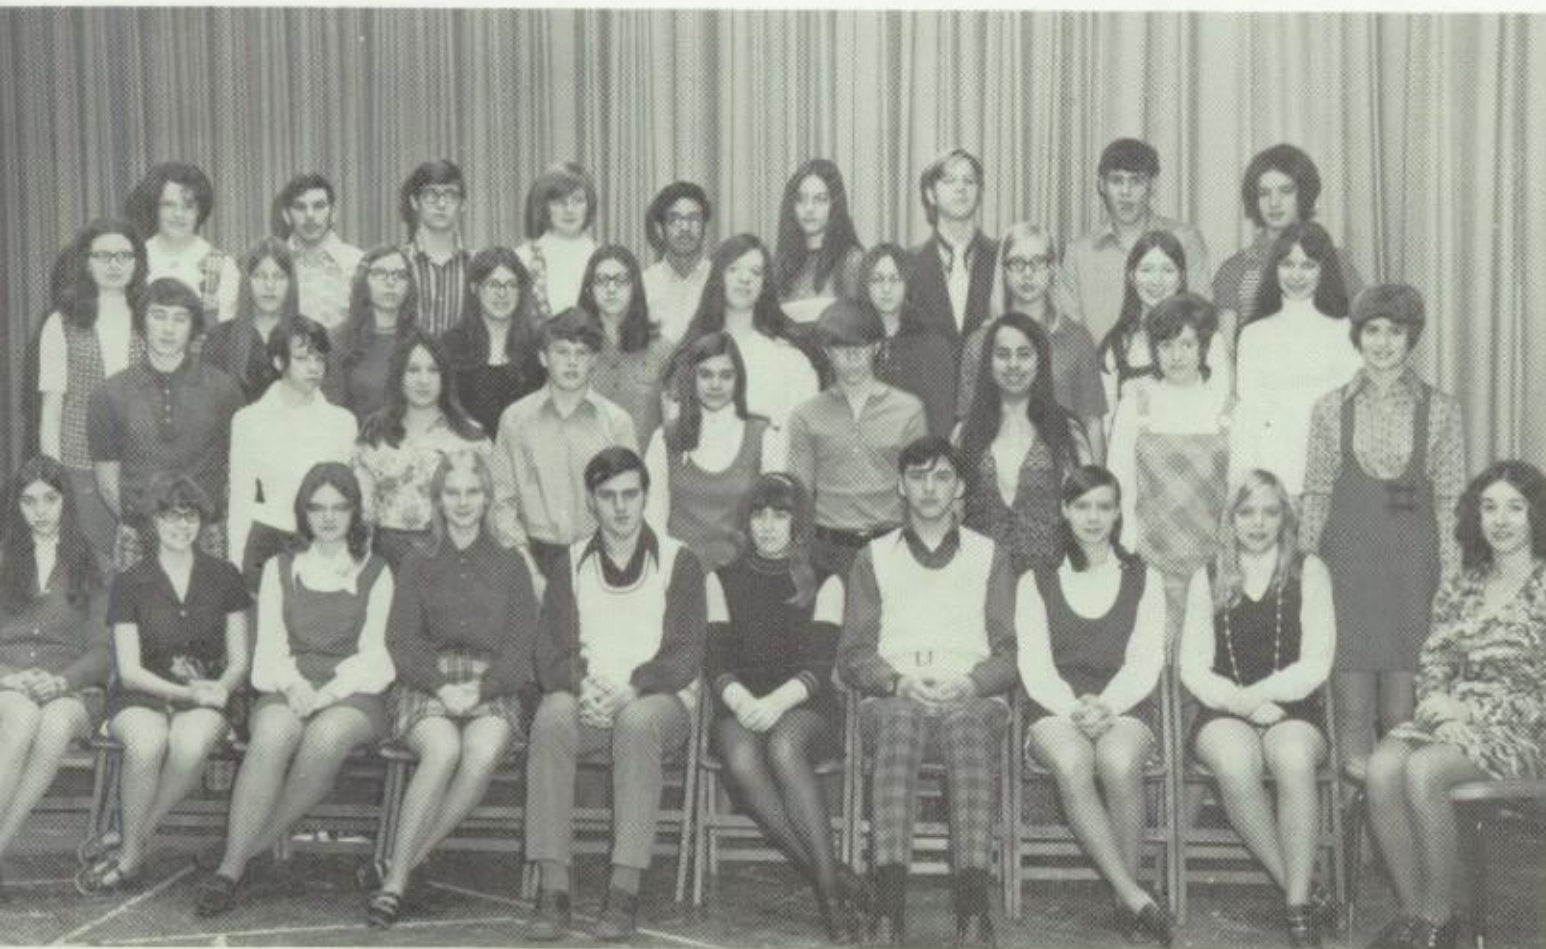

In a very well equipped library, Library Club members are available to help students to find books, to use the Readers' Guide, and to find a certain topic in an encyclopedia. Their other duties include stamping out books, carding books, and putting them in their proper places. That attractive show case in the front lobby is the result of these girls' creativity. By doing these things the library club member is giving the staff time to perform its professional tasks.

Mexico, Here We Come

HOLA is a well known phrase to the members of Spanish Club. To enable a fellow member to become better acquainted with the Spanish way of life, the club members raised money to sponsor him to live in Mexico during the summer. Projects to raise money were car washes, bake sales, and the annual Spanish supper served to the public. This year chili was the main course. Members participated in programs which helped familiarize them with aspects of Spanish culture. They also learned about the Spanish people through knowledgeable speakers.

Perky People Publish Paper

Way over in a corner of the second floor, members of Journalists Club were found in their new office working feverishly to publish ten issues of the school paper, ECHO. Through the cooperation of the administration, this room was assigned to the club, and a strip printer, which prints headlines, was installed. New write-ups, such as, sports quizzes and junior high sports were added, and the general layout of the offset paper was improved. As a grand finish, the club members visited a newspaper print shop, which enabled them to observe different methods of publishing a paper.

Writers Club Encourages Creativity

Roy-Hart's literary magazine, SOUNDINGS, advanced student creativity in meaningful expression. The publication contained a collection of prose, poetry, and art work done exclusively by Roy-Hart students. Hopefully, students became aware of their possibilities in the creative arts through participation in this endeavor. Members of the Writers' Club gathered and evaluated the materials for the publication, and a prize was awarded for the best entry in the magazine. As a result of their efforts, the members gained first hand experience in the organizing of material for the magazine and learned to appreciate creative work.

News of the Day is Broadcast

"May I have your attention, please?" This statement is heard each morning and afternoon over the public address system. Giving the news of the day is only one of many duties performed by members of Announcers' Club. Members also announce at football and basketball games and assemblies. The club is made up of guys and gals who enjoy practicing public speaking. Before giving announcements, each new member participates in at least three practice meetings where he practices enunciation, diction, and voice emphasis. Members of the club enjoyed trips to the local TV and radio stations.

Sharpshooters Work on Rifle Range

Noises came forth from the Fallout Shelter, under the auditorium, as Rifle Club members worked on the construction of the Rifle Range. For use in improving its aim, 22-caliber rifles were provided to this group by the army. Each boy and girl practiced two days a week, and the range was open the other three days for those who sought additional work. This club is only two years old and appears to be making progress. Hopefully, in a few years the club will compete with other schools, thus opening a new area of sports for Roy-Hart.

Drama Workshop Helps Actors

"Well, they've done it again! — Another fine production," were words spoken by many who attended the Drama Club presentation of "The Glass Menagerie," a play involving a very emotional plot. A "One-Act Play Night" and a Patrons' Drive were moneymaking projects held. The money raised helped pay for the rental of scenery, royalties, make-up, costumes, publicity, and play books. To further acquaint students with the acting field, a drama workshop, attended by area Drama Club members, was held during which participants studied acting, dancing, voice, publicity, costumes, directing, and technical theatre.

Young Thespians Keep Busy

For a mere fifty cents, people of our district were welcomed to the world of fantasy when they attended "Gingerbread House in the Forest" presented by Children's Theatre. In order that all could be accommodated, both elementary buildings were used, and a morning and afternoon performance were presented. Cooperating with Drama Club, the group participated in money-making projects. The profits from these projects covered the cost of the make-up, costumes and scenery used by Children's Theatre.

Volunteers Are Always Available

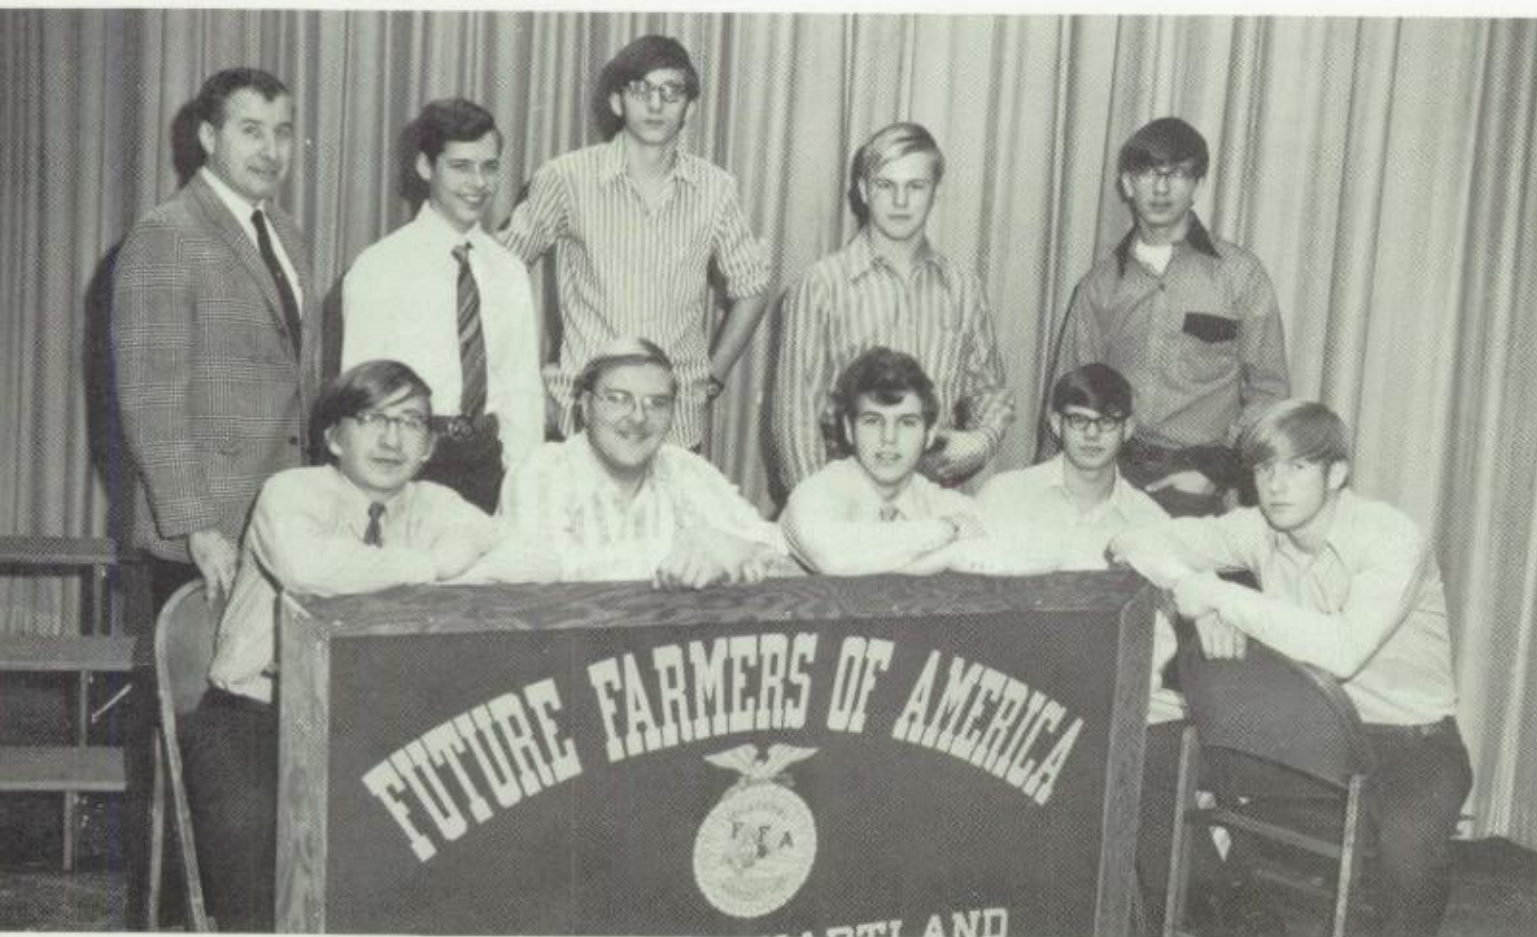

High school or elementary school? Math or Science? Which will I teach? These are the questions that enter the minds of the members of Future Teachers of America. This year the participants had the opportunity to help Mr. Wilson in a resource program. The prospective teachers tutored seventh grade students who had difficulties in certain subject areas. Other highlights of the FTA club included a visit to a college campus, a bake sale held during open house, and the experience of listening to various speakers during meetings.

Roy-Hart Represented At National Convention

The old saying is "You can take the boy away from the farm, but you can't take the farm away from the boy." Future Farmers of America helps keep young men interested in farming. For the first time in three years, RHCS was represented at The Future Farmers Convention in Kansas City. The two boys who had the honor of attending were Kenneth Franklin and Dale Dunkelberger. Some of the other activities in which members participated were agricultural field trips, class lectures and judging contests. To help finance its projects, the club sponsored a delicious pancake supper.

The World Is Made Smaller

"Would you like to buy an AFS pizza?", was the question asked by every American Field Service member during its annual pizza sale. Other activities this year included an AFS float in the Labor Day parade and an open Christmas dance. A Get Acquainted Tea was held in October, which gave students the opportunity to meet Thespina Zayyat, Gloria Campero and Takeyo Fukutomi, our foreign students. The club also greeted Phyllis August, our American Abroad student, on her return from a year's stay in Denmark, and two seniors were chosen as "hopefuls" to travel overseas on the Americans Abroad summer program.

Youngsters Assist Oldsters

Enthusiasm poured forth as Junior High American Field Service members reported to Room 105 for work. Students in grades seven and eight banded together to form their own version of the AFS organization. Besides holding many of its own activities such as bake sales and carnivals, the club assisted in the many activities of the senior high organization. The club is also designed to familiarize the younger students with the overseas exchange program and gives them an opportunity to meet and work with the foreign students.

Members Explore The Past

History has a future! At least it does to the Senior High Historical Society! This club is open to students in grades 9-12 and is designed to meet the interests of those who enjoy history. The members study history and make it fun by learning and exploring the details of past events. The club took a trip to Boston to view the historical spots of interest. To finance this trip, club members collected glass for recycling, showed movies at school on Saturday afternoons and sold Christmas wrapping paper. For them past events are a stimulation to exploration and enjoyment.

Displays Seen At State Convention

Candy bars, sold by the Junior High Historical Society, satisfied the sweet tooth as well as made profit for the club. The profit from this sale was used to finance the annual trip to Cooperstown, which was one of the many interesting projects and field trips taken by the group. The club members visited cider mills and blacksmith shops and built historical displays and exhibits, some of which were shown at the state convention in Utica at the end of the school year.

Safety Is Their Motto

"Will the firewardens please dismiss the assembly?" ... Sound familiar? This is only one of the many ways the firewardens serve the school. They have a great responsibility in connection with the safety of the students and personnel of Roy-Hart. When the fire alarm rings, their main objective is to assist in clearing the building in the least possible time. At their meetings they were taught to work quickly and efficiently. In addition, they learned the use of fire equipment, methods of fire control and prevention, and air-raid procedures.

See Yourself As Others See You

"Hurry! Focus that picture", was on the tip of the tongue of everyone as the audience awaited the showing of a film by a member of Audio-Visual Club. This year everyone, from Girl Scouts to Senior Citizens, was indebted to these electronic equipment operators, who accumulated three hundred to five hundred hours assisting in musical and dramatic productions. Included in their daily schedule was the delivery of projectors and record players to teachers for classroom use, video taping to be shown the following day to the students, and the operation of equipment for the teachers.

Noise and dirty hands came forth from the shop as Industrial Arts Club members worked on the printing equipment. They printed letterheads and tickets for "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" and the Faculty Banquet. The boys organized and repaired the printing equipment and set up a new padding press on which they made pads for school use. This service organization met during activity periods on Mondays and Wednesdays. Their services were greatly appreciated by the administration, faculty, and student body of Royalton-Hartland.

Will One Reach The Moon?

Once again the scientific minds of Roy-Hart delved into the mystical theories and principles of rocket flight. Although Rocket Club was only two years old, it consisted of fifteen interested students whose aim was to accomplish a few landings of man-made rockets whenever the weather was favorable. In the winter all the minds were busy competing in the construction of individual rockets and developing club rockets. These activities hopefully opened the dimensions of the future for the students.

Musicians Travel For Enrichment

Many hours of work in music and in club activities must be completed in order to become a member of Music Council. Members traveled to Klienhan's Music Hall to hear a concert and to Fredonia to visit the Music Department at the college. The spring found these musicians sponsoring a Competition Festival and a pop talent show. In order to earn money for a scholarship presented to a senior at graduation, they sponsored a magazine subscription drive. An Annual Awards Banquet featuring a guest speaker and presentation of awards climaxed their year.

Committee Considers Curriculum Changes

The curriculum committee was established to consider suggestions for the improvement of the curriculum at Royalton-Hartland Central School. It is composed of interested students and teachers who volunteer to study suggestions and then draft recommendations to be submitted to the administration and Board of Education. Areas of concern include changes in course requirements, the addition of new electives, increased opportunity for independent study, and scheduling improvements.

Analysis Of Problems Made

The Human Relations Committee was inaugurated in the Fall of '71. Student and faculty members studied and discussed ways to improve the relationships among all citizens of our school community. Topics before the group included cafeteria problems and those concerning assemblies. Homework assignments and behavior in study halls were other topics considered by the committee. Following careful analysis of the problem and its consequences, recommendations are made to the Student Council and Faculty for their consideration and possible implementation.

Roy-Hart Stays On Top

To put and keep Royalton-Hartland on the top of the list of the area schools for excellent school spirit and sportsmanship, a School Spirit Committee, composed of four faculty members and ten student council members, was formed this year. They have discussed all phases of spectator participation at games, student involvement in pep assemblies, and improved enthusiasm for participation in school activities, and have made recommendations to the administration.

A Study Is Being Made

The cafeteria is a busy place every day from ten forty-five until one o'clock. Each junior-senior high student reports there for lunch during one of the three lunch periods. This year a Cafeteria Committee of six faculty members and six student council members was formed. They have studied the length of the lunch time and have made recommendations for improvement. Further studies are being made by this group and other recommendations will be made.

Experience Is Gained

Young adult men and ladies spend study hall periods assisting in the high school office and in the guidance office. Their jobs are many — run errands, deliver messages, locate needed students, deliver work and supplies to teachers, operate the duplicator, pass out tardy and early dismissal slips, put information in teachers' mail boxes, file schedule cards, and make extra announcements on the public address system. These students not only relieve the secretaries of routine duties but receive experience in office procedure.

Celeste Grimes

Receptionists Welcome Guests

When a visitor enters the building, he is greeted by a monitor who acts as a receptionist. He then directs or escorts the visitor to his destination. Another duty of the monitor is to check all passes. Each student passing a monitor station must have his corridor pass checked and recorded. Thus unnecessary traffic in the halls is curtailed. Each monitor is responsible to a teacher in charge.

GLORIA CAMPERO

To visit the U.S.A. has been my wish for a long time. After I graduated in August in my country, my wish came true — thanks to the Rotary Club Program for which I am very thankful. Roy-Hart has many fond memories for me. First, the very kind help that I received from teachers to help me overcome the problems that I had with the language. It was very nice becoming acquainted with the students here because they were so friendly and nice. Now my wish is that all the students, faculty and administration continue to make Roy-Hart the excellent school that it is. May my country and Middleport always share the friendship that we have had. "Muchas gracias," — thank you very much for everything.

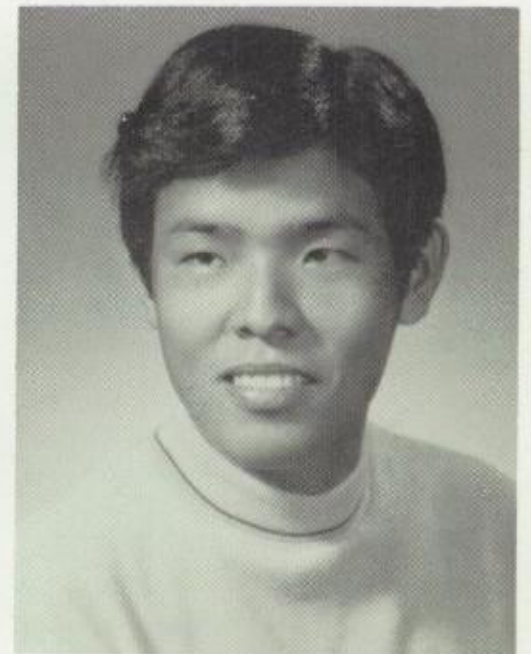

Gloria Campero

As I sit writing my opinion of the year which I have spent in Roy-Hart, I really don't think I can write how grateful I am. I am especially grateful to the AFS Club for raising the money to give me the chance to come over the sea and spend a whole year with one of their families and their fellow students. My life back home is very different from life in the United States and that makes it more fun to have this experience among the American people — how they live and how they enjoy themselves. I thank everybody in the school for the kindness and generosity which they have shown to me. Also, I'd like to thank the people who work on the yearbook for giving me the opportunity to express my opinion.

TAKEYO FUKUTOMI

I would like to say thank you, teachers and students of Royalton-Hartland Central School, for giving me a good experience in America. I am proud of this school where I am spending my senior year. When I first came to Roy-Hart, I found American school life very different from Japanese school life. I think American school life is easier than Japanese because you don't get so many assignments and you don't have strict school regulations. In Japan we go to school six days a week. Summer vacation is very short, only five weeks. Japanese students must study very hard in order to get accepted into a higher school. Junior High students must pass an exam to get into High School. High school students must pass an exam to get into college. Students with the highest marks get into the better schools. I don't know which system is better. I like American! I enjoyed cross country and track and field teams. They made me a good runner. Thank you, Mr. Ciarico, Mr. Finger, and my team mates. I will continue my track life, and see you again at Olympics? OK? (Kidding.). At last, DON'T FORGET WHO TAKEYO IS!

Hoopsters Record Successful Season

The Roy-Hart Varsity Basketball team used a harassing defense and a fast-breaking offense to defeat one opponent after another. The combined efforts earned the Ram cagers second place in the Niagara-Orleans League with a 10-2 record and 13-6 overall. Finishing in second place gave the Rams a BBB sectional berth against Salamanca, but they lost that contest, 46-44, in overtime. Joe Weber, a senior, led the team and N-O League in scoring, broke the school record with 38 points, and set Roy-Hart career scoring record with 1171 points. The team rebound leader was Curt Snowden.

'Twas Close And Yet So Far

Although few in number, the members of this year's Varsity Baseball team were not lacking in spirit or dedication. The team played exciting baseball and was involved in several close games. Of the eight losses, five were by two runs or less, and a few breaks could easily have turned their won four, lost eight record around. With a .307 average, Andy Majka was the top hitter, and Bob Dellario and John Szklany pitched two victories each. John Szklany was the recipient of the team's Most Valuable Player Award while Bob MacAvoy was named to the All-League Team.

The 1971 Rams Cross Country team successfully defended its crown in both Section "BBB" and Section "C". Although the team lacked a consistent first place winner, depth proved to be the factor in deciding the outcome of most meets. A disastrous disqualification placed the team second in the league with only Terry Sharp, Most Valuable Runner, and Loren Dill earning spots on the All-league team. This Team Netted A Reputation

Swinging into their matches with enthusiasm, Roy-Hart's tennis team was a credit to our school. A season's record of no wins and ten defeats seems catastrophic in print, but some matches were very close and were lost by only one point. Displaying a good attitude, the team received many favorable comments from opponents concerning its sportsmanship. Gerald O'Brian and Dan Lort played first and second singles with Bill McKee on third singles. At the completion of the season, Dan Lort was voted the most valuable player.

JV's Make History

History was made this year when the JV football team played their first night game. Although the team lost their first four games, they came back to win the next three and completed the season with a record of three wins and five losses. When they lost their last game to Albion, the baby Rams missed their opportunity for a 500 season. Inexperience stifled the team's progress. Congratulations, team, for defeating your non-league rival, Eden!

Champs Are Undefeated

This year a new record was established at Roy-Hart when the JV Basketball Team having an overall record of fifteen wins and three losses was undefeated in league play. For the first time in several years, the team possessed a height advantage in the persons of Curt Randolph and Mike McCabe. Bruce March and Mike McCabe shared scoring honors while Jim Holahan and Geoff Hinkson performed very well, especially in the two decisive wins over Starpoint. All of the players deserve credit for their support of the team. These players should form a great nucleus for an outstanding varsity squad in the future.

Girls — Here's Your Chance

One club at Roy-Hart is different from any other — it has all male members. To become a member of Varsity Club, an athlete must have earned at least one varsity letter in any one sport. These fellows promoted good sportsmanship, took tickets and ushered at sports functions and games. In order to purchase the awards, trophies, and small equipment, the members sold candy and popcorn at basketball games and manned the concession stand at football games. A further result of their efforts was the contribution of three hundred dollars towards the Score Board Fund.

"We're the Rams, we're the best, go get 'em." This is what you heard as you walked into the gym and along the corridors activity periods and after school. This year the Cheerleaders attended a cheerleading Clinic at Sweet Home Central School where members of the National Cheerleaders Association taught new cheers, chants, and jumps. For the first time, the cheerleaders sold candy to raise money for members to attend a summer camp in Sydney, New York, and to buy more equipment. Hard work resulted in increased enthusiasm and school spirit to spur the athletes to do their best.

Perfection Won By Practice

"Come on, girls, let's swim to that beat!" Perfection was the motto of all the maids that belonged to Synchronized Swim Club. Every week the members practiced such skills as ballet legs and the well-known clam. After hours of work, tryouts were held, and work on the watershow, which was presented in May, got under way. They went to Brockport and other area watershow to view natquatic productions. Thus they obtained ideas which helped to improve their own show. Decisions concerning the music and lighting were made by the girls themselves, and they also fashioned their own costumes. A total club effort to produce the best watershow yet was launched.

Girls Compete in Sports

Physical fitness is a must in today's busy world. The Girls' Athletic Association gives extra practice in all girls' sports. Basketball, tennis, archery, baseball, swimming and soccer were all practiced during activity periods, and competition was held with area schools. The club sponsored a "Sports Day" attended by girls from Wilson, Starpoint, Newfane and Roy-Hart. Several types of races were participated in, and RHCS defeated Starpoint in a tug-of-war. Profit from the sale of zodiac cushions helped send girls to a summer camp in Sydney, New York, where specialization in various sports was offered.

Fifth Grade Begins Preparation For High School

In fifth grade, preparations for high school are beginning to be made. Reading interests are broadened to include non-fiction and fiction on the students' own levels. New textbooks, films, filmstrips and other library materials help the student keep up with the times in this changing world. The influence of physical features and historical background on this country is studied. The pupils' scientific reasoning is increased by various science projects and new ways of mathematical computation. Good habits of logic and reasoning are developed, and students are encouraged to use their knowledge in solving every day problems which occur in their own experiences.

Departmentalization Starts in Sixth Grade

Wise use of free time and development of a student's own initiative are encouraged in sixth grade. Preparation for junior high is provided through departmentalization. Current events are studied and discussed to keep the students abreast with the times. Weather, energy, simple machines, earth, physical and chemical changes and modern math are studied. Communication is improved through the language classes.

Experience Is The Best Teacher

In third grade students learn through experience. They study man and his needs, not only in our own community, but also elsewhere in the world. They learn that all men have the same needs but meet them in different ways. They study maps and globes in detail and locate where they live on each. The children learn cursive writing, and expand their reading skills.

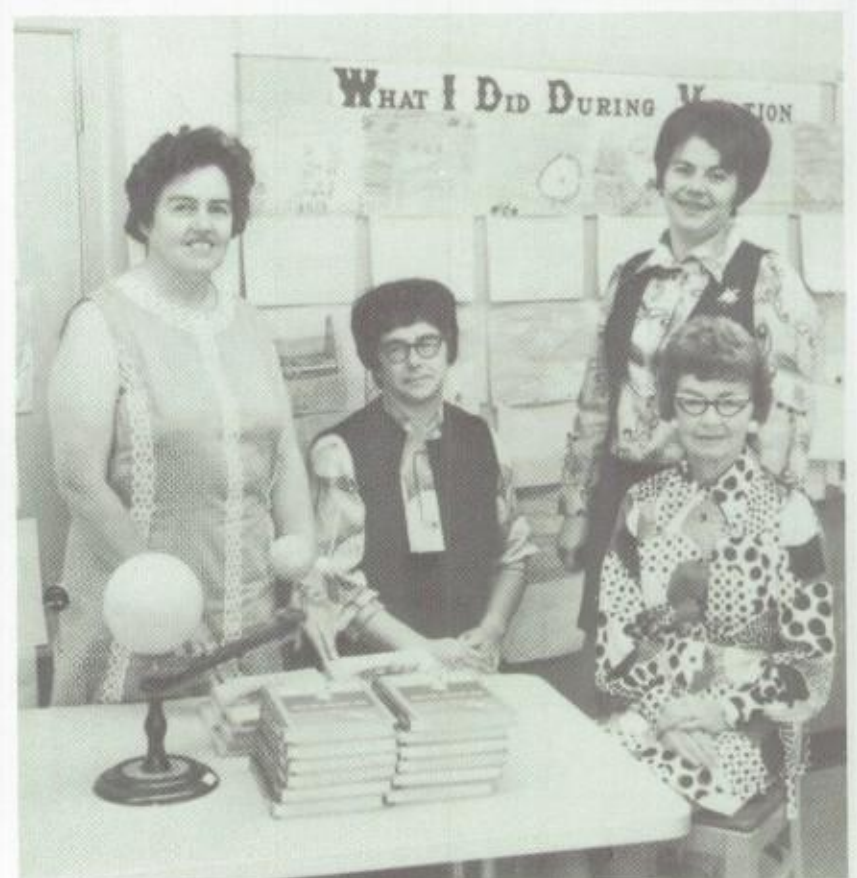

Independent Thinking Begins

Fourth Grade is the year when students begin thinking for themselves and learn to become independent. They learn to read and follow directions for themselves, and are given the opportunity to begin music lessons, both vocal and instrumental. A study is made of the early history of our country. The ecology of our changing world is studied in science with emphasis on what life will be like in the future. Boys and girls learn to become responsible and courteous persons in today's world.

Skills Are Improved In Second Grade

Second graders seek to improve the many skills introduced in first grade. They become acquainted with vowel sounds, elementary spelling and number problems. The basic essentials of Reading, Science, Spelling, English, and Mathematics are studied. Learning about this area's history is interesting as well as informative. To develop better reading skills, visual aids are used, and weekly visits to the library are made. Cultural activities include music and art. Knowledge for the outside world is gained by learning to tell time and count money.

Formal Education Started In First Grade

First grade is a year of hard work, accomplishments, experimentations, and discovery — a year of exceptional growth, physically, emotionally, socially, and intellectually. The study of social habits learned in this grade are the foundation of formal education. Reading is correlated with science and the language arts. In social studies students study family and social needs and compare life in our country with that in Japan, Switzerland and India. First graders are introduced to anthropology, sociology, geography, economics, history, math, and physical science.

ELEMENTARY LIBRARIAN

MRS. MARGARET BLACKBURN

Library Is A Helpful Tool For Research

To an inquiring student, one of the most important places is the library. Both students and teachers enjoy using the educational materials in the pleasant libraries of our elementary schools. In the younger grades, library time is mostly for enjoyment. The children listen to stories, poetry, and records. As the student progresses through the elementary grades, he learns how the library can be used as a helpful tool for research. A large collection of books, film-strips, filmloops, transparencies, pictures, records, slides, models and kits are available. The overhead projector and screen are also a great help in this area. By the time a student enters junior high, he is completely familiar with all aspects of the library and can use it quite independently.

ELEMENTARY READING

MRS. MARIE McADAM, MRS. ESTHER REAK

Friendships Are Formed

Curriculum is very important for the young kindergartener who is beginning a new life outside of his own family circle. He learns how to form friendships with other children and adults. An interest is cultivated in the weather, seasons, animals, health care, foods, music, holidays, and art. The kindergartener also becomes proficient in the alphabet, the number system and listening. The young student develops his own ideas on community living through work with his classmates.

Parents And School Are Partners

Reading is the "hub" of the curriculum, and it penetrates into all areas of learning and involves the entire teaching staff. Our community Advisory Committee, which serves as a liaison between the community and the faculty, brings parents into a more complete partnership with the school in its endeavor to meet the challenge of providing for the learning needs of our students.

Creativity Bursts Forth In Art

A child's mind is allowed all avenues of creativity in the Elementary Art program. Beginning in first grade, each student participates once a week in an art class in the art room. The children work with linoleum block printing, paint, papier mache, chalk, and lettering. As subjects for projects, they also decorate the entrance doors of the school buildings at holiday times.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

MR. DAVID MARCH, MR. CARLTON CHASE, MRS. VERA PARSONS, MRS. ELIZABETH BRIDGE

Exercise Helps Build Strong Bodies

A unique time for discovery is offered in the elementary physical education classes. Primary children are introduced to new equipment, and discover what their bodies must do to use this equipment. Intermediate children meet the challenge of discovering how their bodies may achieve specific goals. The basic theory of the program is that movement is a function of the body and each part of the body has certain capabilities. Movement experiences lead children into effective, efficient and expressive action. Programs emphasize movement and variety to help children learn new skills and develop good social attitude.

HEALTH

MRS. ALICE DICKINSON, School Nurse Teacher; MISS DORIS ANDRESS, Dental Hygienist

Children Learn To Be Healthy

The best time to develop good health habits is in the elementary grades. Each child in the elementary school is given a physical check-up by the school physician, and a vision and hearing test by the school-nurse teacher. The dental hygienist checks and cleans each students' teeth, and instructs them in dental hygiene, both in the classroom and on a personal basis. In each case, parents are notified of any defects that their child is found to have.

Science class in Mr. Beedon's room finds students writing up a demonstration in their notebooks.

Kindergarteners studied dinosaurs. In connection with this study, they made an interesting display.

In the complex, the day is begun by opening exercises. The Pledge of Allegiance is given and a patriotic song is sung.

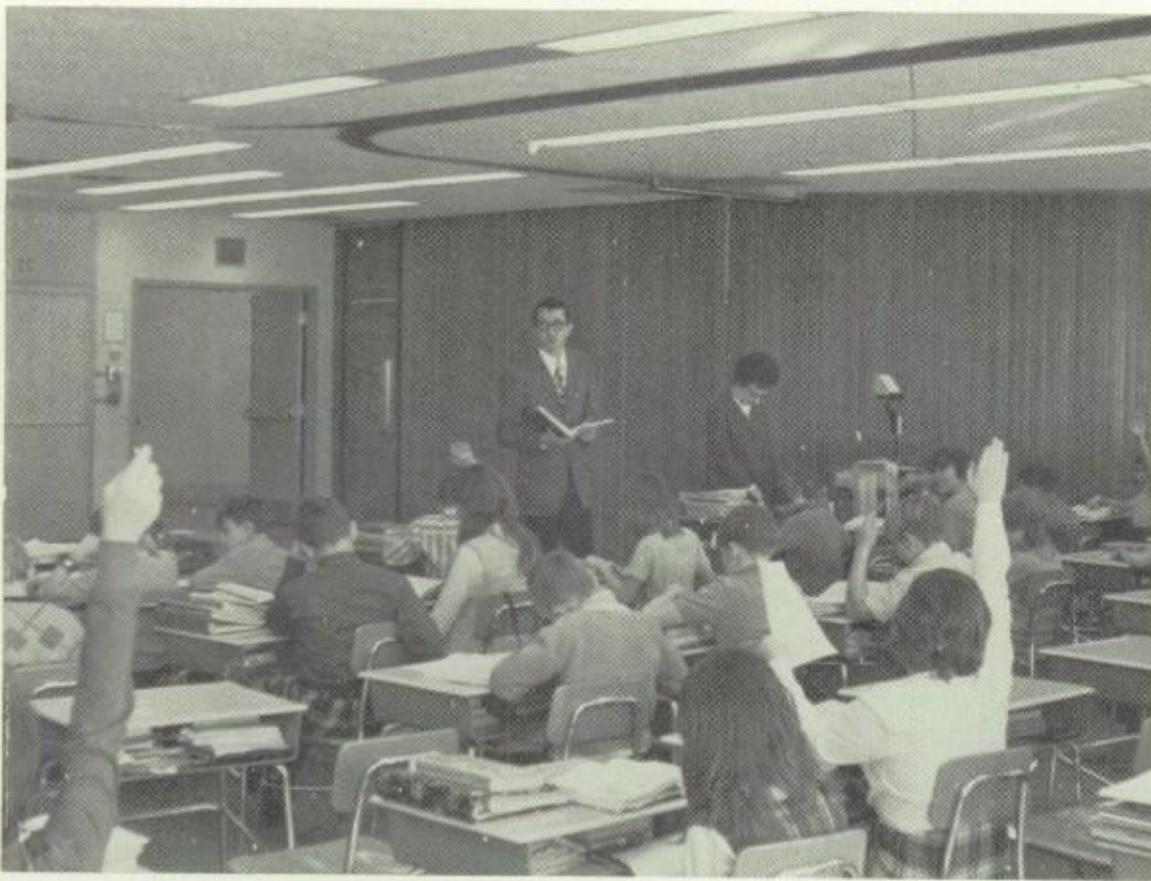

What would we do without the cafeteria ladies! Mrs. Stahl and Mrs. Piedmont take time out to pose for a picture.

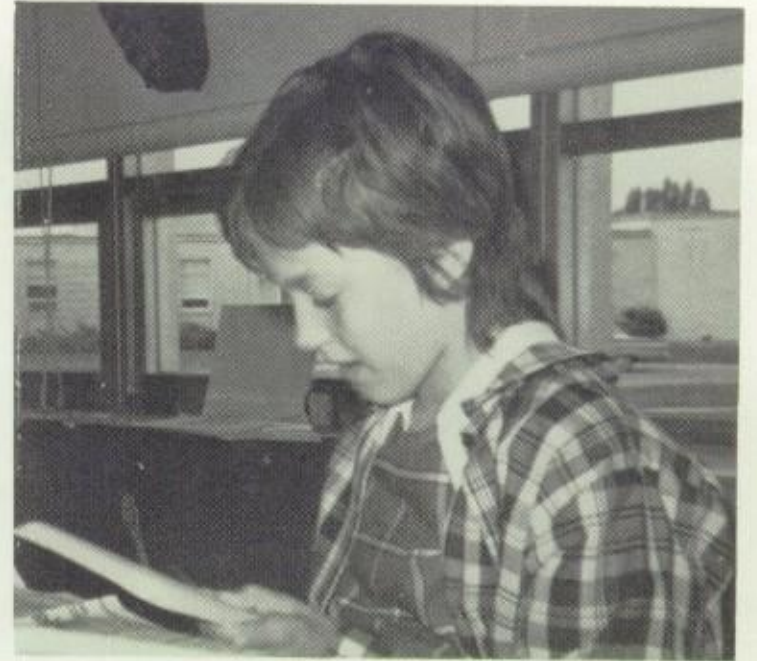

Mrs. Broderick works with one of her reading groups.

Merry Christmas! Mr. Gibbs played Christmas music during the lunch hour.

Mr. Beedon and Mrs. Allport combine their sixth grade classes for team social studies teaching.

Linda Kayner works on an art project.

Kindergarteners are very intent upon a story Mrs. Gregory is reading them.

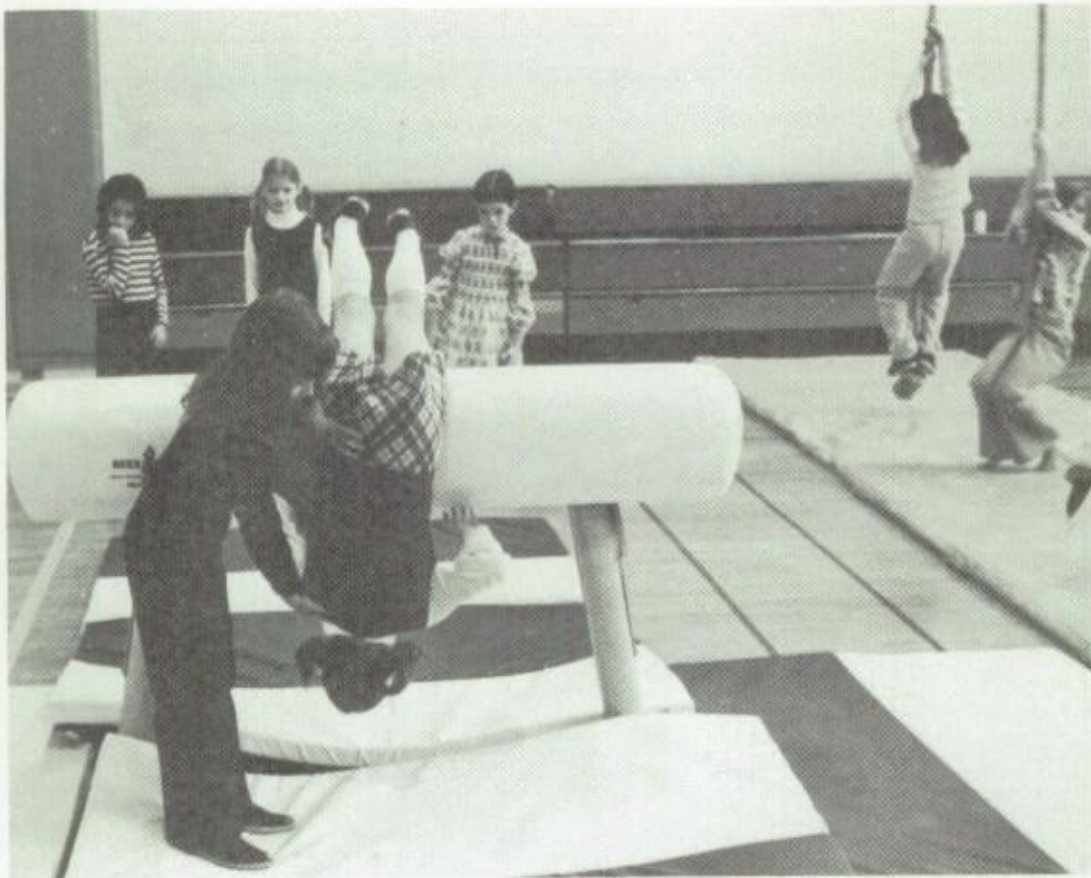

Sixth grade bulletin board displays maps done in class.

Faculty take time out from a busy schedule to enjoy a little relaxation at Christmas.

During the study of early civilization students were divided into groups. This group, consisting of Nancy Stern, Judy Neace and Daniel Stark, made a mummy case.

Many activities take place in gym class. A third grade student clears the horse as another acts as a spotter.

Laura Voelker, Patty Culliton and Paula Schumacher hang decorations they made on the tree.

Mr. Hawkins directs the band in its bi-weekly rehearsal.

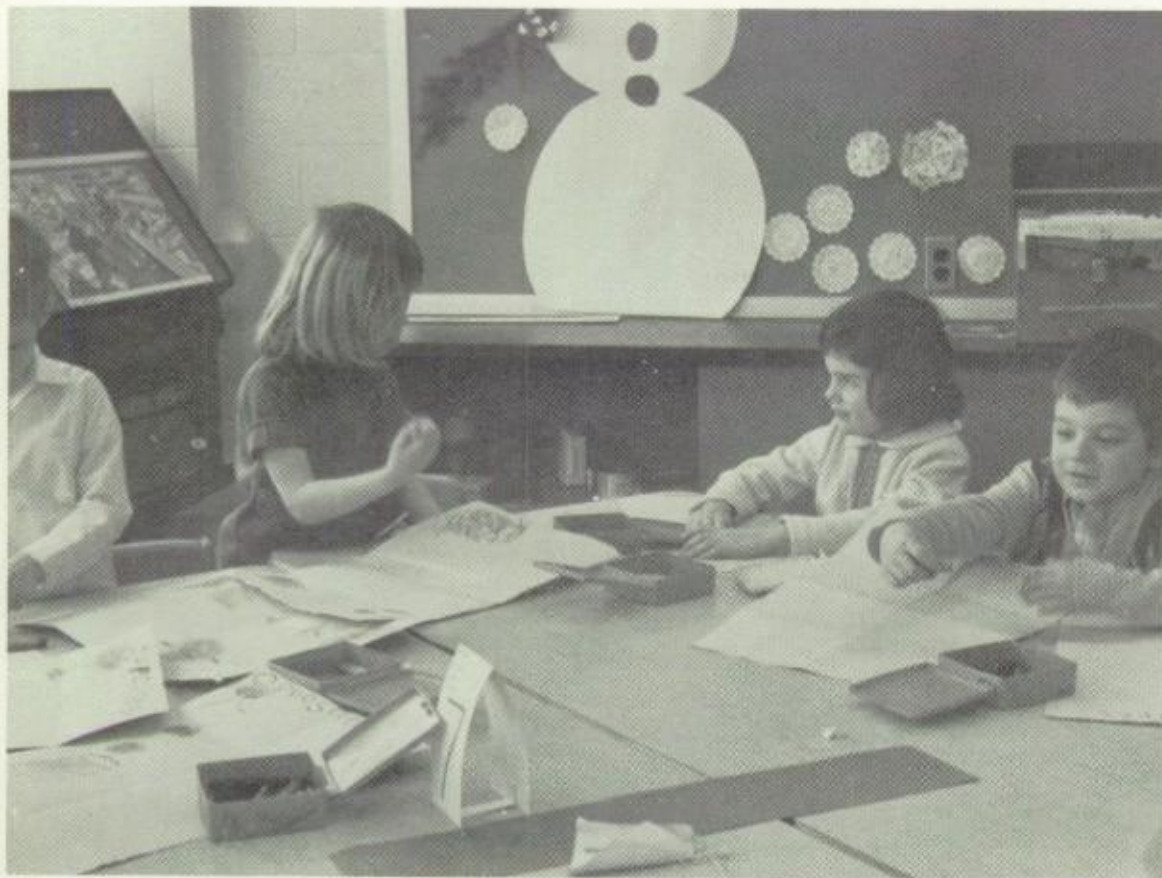

Thanksgiving time finds the kindergarteners dining in Puritan hats they made. Tom Banach, Melissa Stamp and Sara Jane Wilhelm are enjoying their lunch.

Sixth graders prepare Egyptian deorama using clay to represent ancient artifacts.

Members of Mr. McCloy's reading class work on play evaluation.

Mrs. Leu's kindergarten class is making a picture of opposites.

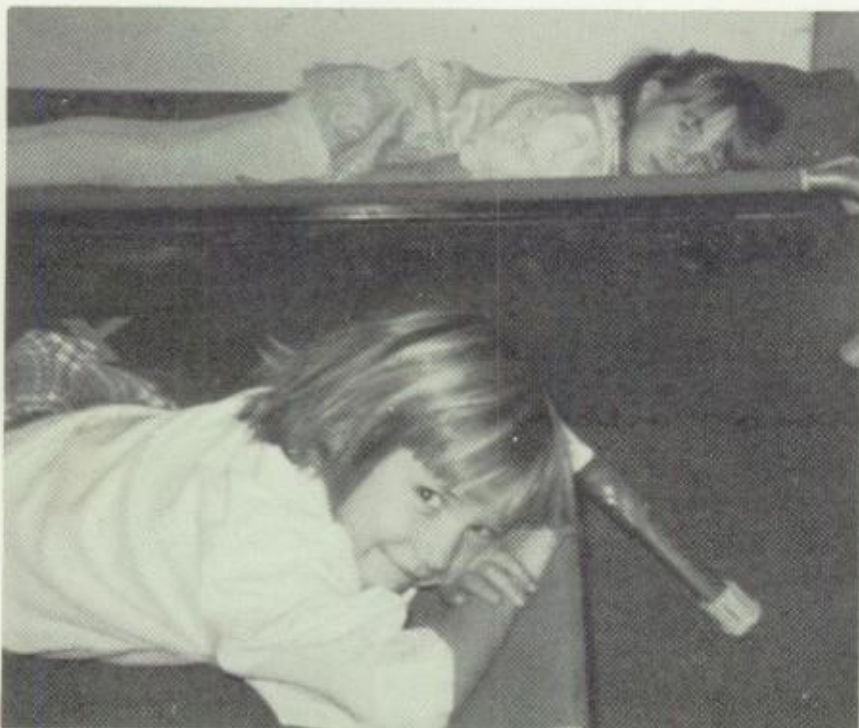

In art class, fourth graders made a valentine mural to be displayed in the corridor.

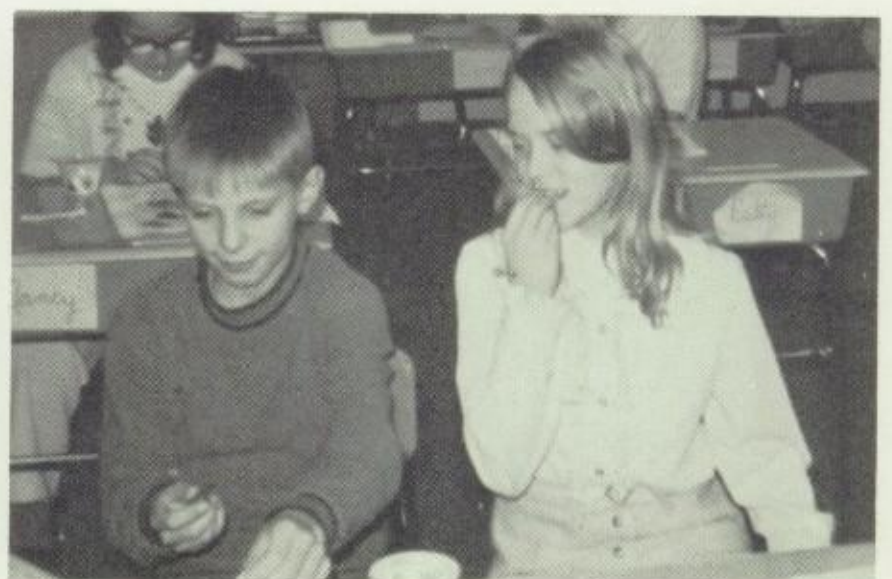

Stephen Brooks gathers books from the shelf which he will distribute to fellow classmates.

Karen Vilella builds strength by climbing the ropes.

Rest time — how lucky kindergartners are! Amy Pritchard and Kelly Boyer really don't look too sleepy.

Christmas time is party time — James Lepkoske, and Terry Farewell are patiently waiting.

Amy Zolyome acts as spotter as a classmate does a bird nest on the rings.

In the physical education class, students devise their own problems. This girl balances herself on the balance beam, and her pal is ready to catch her.

Students increase their knowledge by independent study.

Some of the talented students were children in "The King and I" presented at the high school.

This sixth grade group made a temple and a pyramid for a social studies project.

A kindergarten youngster tunes in as his classmate puts on a wig and performs.

The things I prize of greatest worth
Are just the common things
of earth:
The rain, the sun, the grass,
the trees,
The flowers, the birds,
the glorious breeze,
Clouds that pass, and stars
that shine,
Mountains, valleys, all are mine;
Rivers broad, and open sea
Are treasures none can take from me.
O God is here on every hand,
Upon the sea, upon the land,
And day by day my thanks I give
That with these common things
I live.
